Leading

The 1987-88 school year leads Gahr High School into a different dimension. In this new dimension is a new principal, lively Freshmen, exciting clubs and unique personalities. New heights of achievements are being reached. Gahr Spirit is soaring and memories that will last forever are being created.

Throughout this year-history book, you are traveling through this invigorating scope of Gahr. Come join us in our trip through a different dimension.

I Need A . . .
Vacation!!!!

It was Wednesday the twenty-fourth of June, it was finally the end of a long school year and the beginning of a nice long summer vacation. It was long awaited, relieving students from their school-day pressures. It was the perfect remedy for the anxiety, that had built up during those torturing school times..

For many though, the following Friday was another day of school. Summer school was back again, but many did not mind because they were with their friends. All sorts of classes were offered from proficiency make-ups, to A.P. History. Many students were caught munching at the local liquor store, or even McDonald's. It was the students' way of taking a break from the tedious school work.

Summer was also a chance to make some money, dough, dinero. The four-letter word WORK gave many a chance to spend their free time experiencing the tough world and having fun at the same time. A majority of the students worked at fast-food restaurants, clothing stores, or just helping their parents at work.

Another activity greatly involving Gahr students during the summer was camps. All sorts of camps were offered by clubs and organizations at school. Organizations consisted of leadership, cheerleading, yearbook, church and many others. Each camp was not only fun, but provided a learning experience.

"Camp was the best part about my summer," said Kathy Kim, Junior.

Many people went on trips and vacations, during the summertime. Sakunthala, Junior, and Nahulan Ethirveerasinga, Senior visited New Guinea during the summer. They saw a new culture and had a very culturally exhilarating experience. Even teachers enjoyed their summers, like Mr. Renaker and his wife who went to experience the wonders of England.

"It is a really beautiful country with a tremendous amount of history. We really want to go back," said Mr. Renaker.

Angie deLeon, Junior, visited her relatives in Chicago and found Chicago an experience. Many of us did not have the chance to visit a foreign country or visit a state, instead the local beach was a popular spot and also the new rides and attractions at the ever-so-famous amusement parks.

As the heat sizzled on, school came to an end and all the fun and the freedom of summer was over. Soon the pressures of school would overload students and the thought of summer time fun would be just a sweet memory.

"Summer was way too short", said Kevin Chang, Junior.

The Sun, The Sand, The Surf

The time is 8:30 a.m. and you're sitting in your second period Science class in the middle of September. It's hard to stay awake as the teacher talks about something that has to do with bonding a polyatomic anion with a halogen atom and how it deals with expanded octets. As the minutes pass, your eyelids seem to be getting heavier and heavier . . . and . . .

Next thing you know, you are standing in front of a blue-green ocean with foamy six-foot waves. You feel your toes sinking into the smooth, warm sand. The warm temperature offers a perfect opportunity to achieve the ultimate tan. You see many girls definitely taking advantage of this chance. You also see the surfers display their fabulous ocean-based talent — not to mention their hot-looking bods.

It looks like the middle of summer all over again, but it's too hard to believe. You can feel the sun's rays, you can see the miles of sand, and you can feel the cool water rush past your feet. It's got to be real, you say to yourself. It's got to be real . . .

Well, it looks like you spoke too soon. As you look up, you see the wrinkled, angry face of your Science teacher. It seems he's been standing there for the last five minutes waiting for you to wake up.

"Summer means to me having fun at the beach!!

Home

Away From Home

It's an ordinary day at Gahr. The sun is shining and the students are in their classes. The snack bell rings and the campus is suddenly consumed. Students flee from here to there, but most go to their lockers.

Students no longer keep just books and notebooks in their lockers. Billy Perales, Junior, said, "I keep my soccer cleats in my locker, and they mean a lot to me."

Objects ranging from make-up to clothes are kept in lockers. A big fad for girls is mirrors that they place in their lockers, which is more convenient than the nearest crowded restroom.

Almost anything can be put in lockers, but as Pamela Salonga, Freshman said, "I keep my life in it."

Gahr has the most creative and mind-boggling designs in and outside of its lockers. Lockers are no longer dull, boring, and unexciting. These lockers of the "eighties" are decorated with new fads such as pictures of their dream guys or girls.

A unique idea comes when birthdays come around. Often lockers are decorated with wild wrapping paper along with all the birthday accessories.

While coming in as a Freshmen is tough work, many individuals experience certain difficulties involving their lockers. Freshmen are seen asking themselves "Why doesn't this stupid thing open?" But, this is just the traditional stage of adjusting.

Todd Stott, a Junior said, "I love my locker because it has special memories of the people I have loved during my years at Gahr."

Sean Nam

Terry Kemp, Junior, and Charlene Barton, Sophomore, are found performi the bending down ritual, that every bottom locker student must do.

For any high school student this is the ultimate home for your things.

Jennifer Polak

Craig Crumpley

Who said students at Gahr are messy?

Sean Nam

"Happy Birthday!" screams this cheery locker which proves almost anything can be done to our home away from home.

Besides being just a storage area, lockers are a place where friends can meet one another.

First Impressions

Can Say It All

Teenagers of the '80's have made it clear that the average person can express his/her individuality not only through one's inner beauty but through his/her outward appearance as well. More teenagers each year find new images for themselves with the help of fashion. The clothes you wear can express what kind of mood you're in, what kind of person you are, or even what type of music you prefer. However, fashion doesn't include just clothes. In today's fashion, clothes, hairstyles, nails, shoes, jewelry, and bags all have important roles.

Surprisingly enough, fashion has taken a step into a new direction. Some of the trends today combine looks brought back from the '50's and '60's. Mini skirts, stonewashed jeans, short, spiky hair for the guys, and permed, teased-out hair for the girls have made a strong comeback into the fashion scene. Soft pastel colors have also returned for a fresh, spring feeling.

Designer brand names like Esprit, Guess?, and Generra have returned to give us impressive fall and spring wardrobes that can suit anyone's taste. T&C, Gotcha, Catchit!, and Vuarnet among others are fashions in knee-length shorts and the ever-popular T-shirts that provide us with comfort from the hot summer weather.

"I like to wear dresses and skirts with a belt with shoes or boots to match because they're comfortable."

Darany Chunn
Junior

If you think shoes don't mean as much as the clothes — think twice! Guys enjoy wearing high-tops like Reeboks or Lottos or even a pair of Vans. Girls have a wider variety of shoes. They can wear boots, various colors and styles of flats and pumps, and slippers. Accessories include caps for the guys and belts, bracelets, and rings for the girls.

Fashion definitely expresses a person's individuality and personality — something very important for high school teens — especially at Gahr where the different styles make fashion unique and exciting.

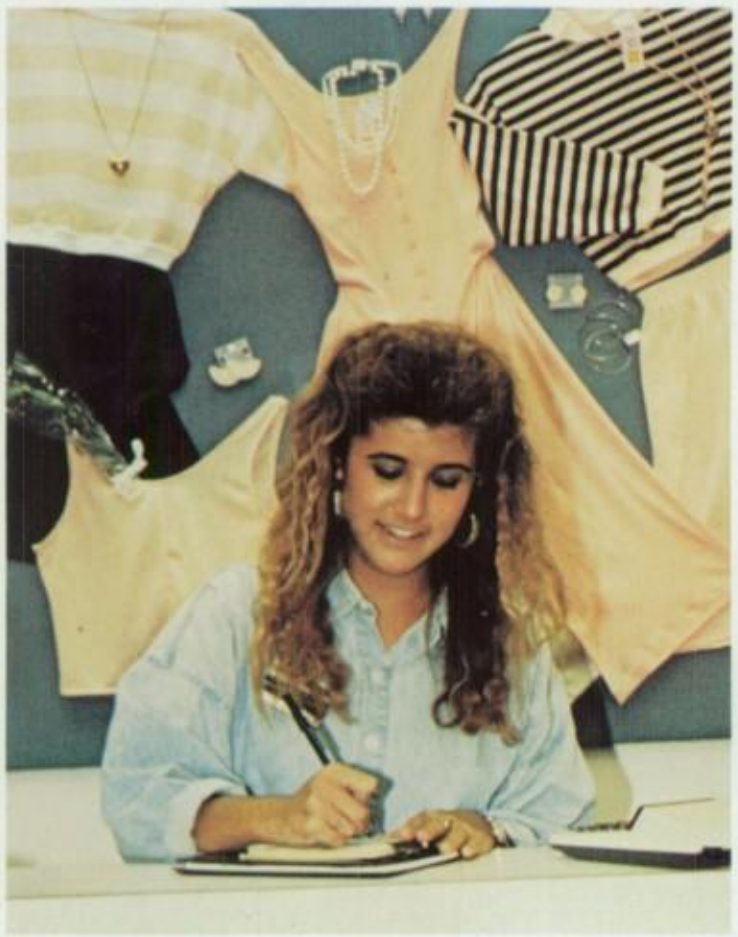
LOOKOUT WEEKEND!



Jennifer Polak

After a week of sitting through classes and staying up late doing homework, it's finally Friday. Face-it, you're ready for the weekend.

"I look forward to the weekend, so I can go out and do crazy things," says Sabrina Hernandez, Junior.

In fact, most of us do. We use the weekend as a time to relax and forget about school. In Diane Whitaker's case, Junior, she goes to parties on Friday and Saturday night with her friends. Each of us have our own way of relaxing and taking time off. This might include, going to a party you've heard about all week, or just staying home and watching T.V.

Although the weekends give us a chance to take a break, sometimes that break is spent working. This isn't altogether bad though. The money that they earn goes straight into their pockets, and it can be spent in many ways.

This glorious two day holiday would be perfect for not doing anything except going to the beach, but teachers manage to fix that. On the weekends that teachers keep us busy with homework, you're always likely to find the public library fresh out of books yet always full of students. When that happens we usually get told to, "Keep it down or you're out of here!" by the man in the green shirt.

Weekends can be valuable for getting work done, but most important, for working on our social life. Our socializing doesn't always get done at football games, the mall, or Knotts; it''s usually done while we should be doing something constructive, like homework.

Weekends can be loads of fun, so live it up!

School Spirit Soars

The time of the year when school spirit is shown the most is "SPIRIT WEEK".

Students participated during this fun week by going to the Homecoming Picnic and by cheering on the football team at the Homecoming game Friday night.

At lunch during the week there were different activities students could get involved in. On Monday there were potato sack races, and Tuesday was the watermelon eating contest, which a lot of students enjoyed. Lifesaver/ orange pass was on Wednesday. On Thursday kids got involved in the Volkswagon Bug decoration contest, which the Junior class won. The Seniors got back at them by winning the relay, Bug racing, and the stadium decorating contest at the Homecoming Rally Friday.

After the rally was a picnic, held on the football field where you could buy pizza and cokes, or bring your own picnic basket and enjoy the picnic with friends.

"I think Spirit Week was pretty exciting. I enjoyed the picnic and all of the people running around. It was really fun," said Rachelle Canent, Freshman.

ASB Cabinet put together Spirit Week, and they think that this year's Spirit Week was the best ever. In their opinion, the Seniors were the most spirited.

"It was a great turnout of spirit and participation. A lot of people got up early Friday morning to decorate the stands, and we really appreciated it. But, of course, we could always improve Spirit Week by more participation and spirit. But it was a fun week and that's what counts!" ASB President Heather Vaughn said,"The Bug and stands decorating contests were the best we ever had."

All Was Perfect

If Only . . .

It was a dark, chilly night, perfect for a football game. This game was different, it was the Homecoming Game. Both teams were on the field early to begin their warm-ups. Gahr's spirit was high and their goals were set. Hansford Rants Stadium was filled, as usual, with the band and other anxious people ready to watch the outcome of the game.

The Warren Bears kicked the ball, and the game started. The Gladiator defense was holding the Bears back, while the offense was pounding away. The power of the Gladiators seemed to be infinite and their goal was within reach.

Unfortunately, the power of Gahr was overcome. The Bears scored a touchdown, and again, we were down but not out. Oscar Montalvo, a Senior, caught a pass from Tom Lee, another Senior, in the endzone for the score. Half the game was over, and only one half was left.

The Senior, Junior, Sophomore and Freshman princesses were already chosen and the big question was . . . Who was the Homecoming Queen? The four red Corvettes were lined up ready to take the princesses around the track.

They were sitting on the stage when the electronic board lit up with the name "Traci." The crowd roared and the tears were shed.

The game resumed with the Gladiators kicking off. Their spirit was anew but unfortunately that wasn't enough. The game was lost but Gladiator pride was not. The ending score was 49-7.

A Touch of Class

Our Homecoming dance was held at the Holiday Inn, Gateway Plaza in La Mirada from 8:00 p.m. until 12 midnight.

The buffet of assorted foods caught everyone's attention. To satisfy everyone's taste buds, there were many different types of pastries, fresh tropical fruit, and tummy tickling ice cream sundaes. To relieve party goers, there was a beverage bar to quench the thirst of all who were in need.

Looking forward to this special evening, ladies and gentlemen dressed up in their best. In between dances, people moved from one table to another to socialize with one another.

Our D.J., Pro-Productions did a good job. Although the dance floor was not large enough to accommodate all the dancing feet, the dancers always found a place to keep their bodies moving.

After the evening of dancing, many people went to different types of places such as parties and out to eat.

"After the Homecoming, all my friends went to our other friend's house and kicked back over there," said Sophomore, Ted Tan.

"After the Homecoming my friends and I went to Shoreline Village," said Tisha Roberts, a Senior.

"When it was time to leave I went home and went to sleep, I was so tired!" answered Suzi Hernandez, a Sophomore.

With the coordination of the dance committee and the advisory of Mr. Ed Ware, the Homecoming dance was an excellent evening.

The Coronation

The stage was set. All the balloons were in place, ready to float into the sky. The band played a soft tune while the princesses were driven around the track. All that was left was the announcement of the Homecoming Queen.

Then the winner's name was announced. "Traci Teal" was the name which came from the announcer. "I was shocked. I had no idea that I'd win," was Traci's feeling about winning. A common thought for winners of such a glamorous title.

The Senior Princesses were announced earlier that day. Paige McIntosh was the first to be proclaimed. She has been in the Winter formal and Prom courts. Dana Steward was next to be brought down. She was active in sports and was Junior Princess for Homecoming last year. The last to come down was Traci Teal. Traci has been a songleader for four years, working her way up to Varsity.

The Underclass Princesses were also announced that day. The Freshman Princess was Jessica Martinez. "The title allowed me to meet new people," she commented about being named Freshman Princess.

The Sophomore Princess was Liz Siqueiros. This was her first year on the Junior Varsity Yell squad. She was also on the Sophomore Cabinet.

Natalie Gomez was the Junior Princess. She was on the Cross Country team and Vice-President of the Junior Class. "I had thought people would want to see a new face," Natalie explained to why she was surprised.

Congratulations were given and pictures taken. The flowers were passed out as the audience's mind slowly turned back to the game. Everything went smoothly, which showed that the Homecoming Court had 'A Touch of Class'.

Improving Our Appearance

Striving to make our school the best it's ever been, is dedicated group of leaders known as Associated Student Body.

They had hoped to reach five main goals by the end of the year: to improve the appearance of the school, preserve traditions, bring A.S.B. closer together, get more students involved, and promote unity. They were responsible for activities during Homecoming week, the Homecoming dance, second annual Luau, rallies, picnic, Spirit Weeks, and the Gahr Hi-Jinx.

They also helped out in organizing the Drug Awareness and Get High On Yourself weeks, Appreciation lunches for the CIF teams, teachers, guidance advisors, etc.To promote these activities, fund raisers like selling A.S.B. cards and the Hello dance were held.

Not only does A.S.B. help our school, they help our community as well. They led Gahr in the annual MDA Superdance to help those with muscular dystrophy, blood and canned food drives, and collected money for the United Way.

"This year's A.S.B. started out as elected officers with goals and ended up being a group of close friends with accomplishments." — Comm. of Activities, Shawna Bouwman.

Ladies and gentlemen! Gahr High School proudly presents the 1987-'88 Gladiator Marching Band!" The crowd cheered enormously as the announcer spoke these words and eighty band members marched out onto the field during halftime performances at Varsity football games.

Not only was the music loud, but the Tall Flags brought out the colors of blue and gold with the twirling of their flags. Besides getting the crowd going during halftime, they are the spiritholders of the game. Throwing colorful confetti and acting totally outrageous is just a part of being involved in band.

Band was an exciting part of the lives of the musicians who took part in it, but being the best took much time and especially, lots of practicing. Many hours were spent practicing outside of school, even during the summer. Students came to school and marched under the scorching sun learning formations and practicing the music until perfection. Summer band led them to where they are today.

The Tall Flags unit added the final touch to make the band number one! Though smaller than last year, their positive attitudes and organization led them to placing in parades and taking part in more competitions. Mr. Doug Fischer, the director of Music, the Tall Flags, "add color and a different look to the band."

Gretchen Van Middlesworth, Sophomore, thinks "Band is exciting, and rewarding at times when you've reached your goals in band reviews. I am glad to be a part of it!"

Hey Hey you better beware! The Gladiators . . . big, blue, and strong are here! The crowd goes wild as the popular chant is performed by the pep squad. Many chant with them, getting into the spirit of things. The cheerleaders, liven up the crowd with their synchronized routines and dances. "I found working with the pep squad a challenge because we are responsible for promoting the spirit at Gahr." Elizabeth Cantey, Junior Songleader.

The pep squad even worked during the summer at the U.S.A. (United Spirit Association) camp in Santa Barbara. It seemed like a lot of fun, but was actually hardly the case. From the break of dawn to the edge of night, they strutted their stuff. Dancing and learning the new routines was not the only obstacle ahead of them, but the competition that filled the atmosphere also was a even greater challenge. Many of the new routines that the pep squad performed were learned at the camp. Although, the camp was tiresome they were able to polish up and make this years pep squad even more talented then before.

Many changes were also brought about in the 87-88 Pep squad. First of all, there was a change in the leadership. Ms. Molina is the new advisor. There is an addition of two groups to the squad. Song, consisting of ten girls who perform dances to songs. Flag, consisting of four girls, are the newest additions.

When Mr. Ware *said he had made plans for Western Day I thought about how much fun all the past ones were. I had always wanted to participate in it, and this was my last chance. I really didn't know any of the final details until just before lunch. As one of the girls passed out our badges we were given the rest of our responsibilities. All we had to do was find the person whose name was on the warrant and take them to the jail.

During lunch that day a lot of smiles were exchanged. There was some western music to get everyone in a good mood.

If a stranger would have walked onto the Gahr campus October 30th, they would ve seen some pretty weird ngs. The reason; Hallown. The halls and quads ere filled with Snow hites, Cinderellas, a Little ed Riding Hood, clowns, ooks, witches, and believeor-not two Chippendale ncers.

Halloween is the holiday at allows for the most creivity. People that we ought were quiet and shy, dressed up and were something unusual. Those that we knew were not shy, but crazy, got to prove just how crazy they were.

Everybody that dressed up for Halloween at Gahr has their own reason. Gerry Balagtas, Junior, dressed up because, "It's fun and I'm joining in the spirit of things."

Roselle Sarigumba, Senior, said "I've dressed up every year since I was a kid and all my other friends dress up too. Besides, it is darn fun!"

At lunch, all willing goblins and "spirited" Gladiators met at the rally platform for the Annual Gahr Costume Contest. A.S.B. gave awards to the scariest costume, overall best costume, and most original costume. Kristy Killingsworth Sophomore, took the award for best overall costume as a scarecrow. Bobby Schaffer, Junior won the award for the scariest costume as a ghoul. Amy Alves, Junior, won the award for the most original costume as a Christmas tree, ornaments and all.

The Gift of Life

Drip, Drip, Drip, Drip — Is it raining? Not hardly, it's that perspiration rolling off of a nervous forehead. The first time — anxious to give, but scared of THAT needle.

Wild thoughts, "Why am I here," come too late. The papers are filled out and the nurse just called your name. GULP. Is it over yet? Sorry — it just started.

You move to another chair, not too difficult, but the raw sight of igloo icechest marked Human Blood ties the final knot in your stomach. The nurse proceeds with routine taking of blood pressure, temperature, and a blood sample. You try not to look, but you end up staring at the comatose bodies laying on the tables hooked up with red tubes.

The butterflies start reproducing, and your knees are a little shaky. Rational thoughts come, "get out quick," but they, too, are late.

The nurse takes you by the arm. Gently and calmly, she leads you to a table. She smiles, and seems to overlook your stressed-out condition. She helps you on to the table and makes you feel quite comfortable. Then, when you thought it was THAT TIME, she leaves you laying there.

In what seems to be the longest minutes of the day, you wait, not daring to look at the other guy's needle. You close your eyes, wishing to escape your fear. But all you can imagine is a rusty needle coming 90mph at your arm. In the midst of your nightmare, the nurse returns and starts the final process. The time has come.

Sweat rolls off your forehead like a waterfall, and the nurse reaches for a main vein. You close your eyes not wanting to see the needle. The nurse prepares your arm carefully, making sure everything is sanitary and clean. You decide to peek through your right eye just a little — AGHH!! There's a big yellow spot on your arm!

You close your eyes real tight and wait. The nurse is asking you about college or something like that. You can only mumble a short answer. She keeps playing on your arm like she's looking for another vein. One time, it even felt like she pinched you. Your only reaction — "I hope she knows what she's doing!"

Another five minutes pass, your tension is magically going away, the butterflies are flying home, and you can actually understand what the nurse is saying to you.

Being brave, you peek again. The needle is all nice and in place; everything looks extremely red. WOW — it didn even hurt after all. It's almo over and you feel pretty da good.

Later on, after your pint put in the Igloo, you sit and e joy the complimentary jui and cookies. You sip slowly a watch the other arrivals, esp cially the nervous ones. Inste of sympathy, you have pride your fellow classmates a yourself.

All that fuss was worth it. nally you can understand t enthusiasm of being a don You come to realize, as you fi ish your juice, that you gave t best gift possible, the gift of li

Wake Up

Goin' Outside To Play

In Southern California, the weather tends to make our students intolerant to sitting in classrooms. Seeing the sun shine through the windows, they dream of activities they'd rather be doing. We are surrounded by many exhilarating hobbies, and so our students always find a way to have a good time.

Living near the mountains and ocean, allows us to take up many water and snow sports. Monique LeBlanc, Junior, started water skiing about two years ago with friends. She doesn't go very much, but each time, she looks forward to trying new things. She says it's amazing the feeling of being pulled out of the water and then riding on top. "Everytime I ski, I learn new things. I really want to ski the Pacific Ocean one day."

How does scamming on guys with zinca on their lips in Mountain High sound? For Jennifer Polak, Junior, this is what she looks forward to every winter. For two years, Jennifer has gone skiing with her youth group from church. Jennifer's just learning, but she hopes that one day she will be able to ski down an intermediate run without falling. She says, though, "It's nice when you fall, and a real rad guys brings your poles back to you."

Surfing is something that many students always seem to fit in. Scott Law, Junior, has been surfing and bodyboarding for two years. He and his friends spend time at Huntington Beach on the weekends and in the morning before school and says that it's great fun and exercise. Scott says that the sport is very expensive, but "it's better than school, and it surely brings in the girls."

Other students dream of far off places that their weekend is going to take them. For Mitch Lippen, Sophomore, every other Sunday is spent in the foothills of San Bernardino with his friends Mike Plante, Junior, and Todd Adkins. Mitch's cousins race bikes and got him into it five years ago, and he now motorcrosses and competes at Ascot and Glen Helen on his Kawasaki KDX 175. One thing about competition that Mitch will never forget is when he was doing a double jump and hit the top of the second jump. He had to be carried off of the track in an ambulance and was checked for bruised ribs, which came back positive. Overall, though, Mitch says, "There's nothing like motorcrossing. It's so much fun, and I love to compete."

Some people don't travel far for their weekend fun. As you drive around town, you notice "fixed up" cars that belong to "car clubs". Since Tina Snook, Junior, got together with her boyfriend, she has belonged to "Street Rebel." They wash, wax, and fix up their cars, and then on the weekend nights, drive them to places like Fashion Square, Naugles, and In-N-Out to meet other clubs. Here, they check out other cars for new ideas, and at times, bet money and street race.

Shawna Bouwman, Senior, enrolled in Gahr's dance class in her Freshman year, and dancer, Presty Garcia, auditioned people for his dance company. Shawna auditioned and danced for him for three years. Lately, she has been gearing attention mainly towards her singing ability. She has been singing in church since she was a little girl, and for the past two years, she has taken private singing lessons. She has been performing in addition to singing in weddings, and last summer, she sang at a benefit for Missing Children at the Highwood Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood. Shawna is hoping to become a professional singer and songwriter. She says, "You can do anything if you set your mind to it. These experiences have built me a good self-esteem."

As you see, our surroundings have provided our students good opportunities to develop themselves. Whether it be on the weekends or before and after school, many keep very busy and have fun, too. So, the next time you get restless in class, just look forward to these things and live for the weekends!

"Rev 'em up," Monique LeBlanc, Junior, confidently said as she skied along Lake George.

Relationships between guys and girls are like roses that grow into Beauty. What two people share in life is extraordinary because it can only be felt once. Just like a rose because no two roses are alike. The rose bud represents two people meeting, the beginning of the relationship is the opening of the rose, and the blossomed rose is the beauty or the love between two people.

The life of a rose starts with the bud. A relationship starts when two people become acquainted. Getting to know people varies on whether the person was assertive or aggressive. Jennifer Ferguson, Sophomore, said, "It all depends on the situation. I think I'd start with just a smile, then a hello, and think of something to ask him. Not all at once though." Jennifer would be assertive by taking things one at a time. Jon Sorensen, another Sophomore, would be aggressive, "I'd be straight forward and introduce myself." No matter how a relationship gets started, it starts somewhere.

The opening of the rose is the most crucial part because it is where the beauty all begins. From the beginning, a person should have some idea about how the relationship is going to work. Shared interests and feelings are positive things between two people. One's beliefs also has an affect. Chris Kissling, Freshman, values, "Trust and love so the relationship can go on forever."

Spending time together is a step that should be taken carefully. Gretchen van Middlesworth, Sophomore, said, "I noticed that some of my friends break up with each other because they are around each other too much. They start getting picky." Being together has its ups and downs. There are the perfect evenings and the days of arguments. Perfect evenings are "having dinner and a moonlit walk on the beach," said Jon Sorensen. Chris Kissling said, "Getting along without fighting."

Arguments are bummers. Who cares if two people disagree about something. Like they say on T.V., "the best part of arguments are making up." Remedies include everything from spending money to just talking it out after calming down. Though relationships can be upsetting, the happier moments are the cherished memories.

The final stage of the rose is the blossoming and the showing of its radiant beauty. The elegance of a relationship is the understanding, loyalty, and most of all, honesty that two people can share forever.

"Breaking Up Is Hard To Do . . . "

Something is wrong. The two of you just aren't getting along anymore. You are constantly disagreeing and arguing about the littlest things. Those feelings the two of you once shared just don't exist anymore. Both of you realize that it's that time — that time to go your separate ways, to "start seeing other people", to break up.

It felt like your love would last forever, and now you're trying to find the easiest way to say "we can still be friends."

Breaking up with a boyfriend or girlfriend is one of the most emotionally stressful tasks a teenager must go through. "After my last boyfriend, I realized that you don't know what you really have until it's gone," said Cathy Fong, Sophomore.

Sometimes, you can learn something from a break up. "When you break up with someone, you see another side of that person you never thought that person had," said Michell Reynolds, Senior.

It takes time to mend a broken heart. Sometimes, it seems like it's going to take months or years, but most everyone gets over it. And everyone knows that the best way to get over an ex is to find a new love. "When I broke up with my last girlfriend, I felt like I'd never get over her, but then I met this new girl and the pain went away before I knew it," said Todd Teal, Sophomore.

Actually there are people who don't really feel bad at all. "When I broke up with him, I didn't even feel anything at all," said Soo Hong, Sophomore.

To most people, though, breaking up really is hard to do, and it could put you in some major emotional distress. But, as they say, time heals all wounds, even if it does feel like you need forever to heal that broken heart.

"They say that breaking up is hard to do . . .
Now I know, I know that it's true.
Don't say that this is the end,
I wish that we were making up
Instead of breaking up again."

— Rick Renaker

. . Comes True

There she was, Cinderella in the arms of her prince. They were dancing slowly on a dimly lit floor. Later, her prince obtained balloons for her. They were to remind her of that wonderful evening. Then you awake from this dream only to thoughts that this was actually going to happen to you. If you went to the Winter Formal.

When you first entered the ballroom, what did you notice? Did the balloons attached to the wall attract your eye? Or perhaps it was the food, that was arranged scrumptiously on a banquet table, that you noticed first. Then there were the elegant flower bouquets in the middle of every table. Sean Hamberlin, Sophomore, commented, "The decorations were colorful and they brought out the mood of a 'Winter Dream'."

The fast songs were hot and the slow songs were cool. Thanks to "Spectrum", couples danced the night away. "The DJ was good, even though they messed up a few times, everyone seemed to enjoy them," said Shelly Zeck, Junior.

What was special about the Winter Formal was the memorabilia. If you couldn't get some balloons, you wouldn't leave empty handed. Both you and your date received water goblets and bids. You also got to keep your ticket.

The court was also a special part. It had three princes, a king, three princesses, and a queen. Best of Times

The lights are suddenly dimmed in the Multi Purpose Room. Then clapping arouses and Mr. Ed Ware, the master of ceremonies, walks onto the stage. This will be an unforgettable night because it is the 2nd Annual Gahr High Jinx.

Being only the second year, many performers were introducing fresh, new styles of acts such as the "Real California Raisins", starring many of the faculty members and imitations of acts performed long ago by the rock-n-roll greats. But in the end, the acts had to beg-for-a-ticket. The act that got the most tickets was proclaimed winner. First place went to "Best of Times", second place was "Snow White & the Belly Bustin' Dwarfs", and finally third place went to the "Wannabe's Return."

Behind the scenes the biggest act to perform was the try-outs. The acts had to show their performances to make sure they were in decent order. But by the end all the acts that tried out made it to the final night.

There was a real purpose behind all the glitter and glamour of the show. Mrs. Pat Ruth, President of the PTSA said, "The purpose of this show was to raise money for Senior Scholarships, the Peer Counseling Group, and other PTSA projects, but beyond that it was to 'Share Our Gahr Pride.' Gahr will be an even better place when parents, teachers, and students can join together to share their pride, concerns, and laughter."

Rides By Day

Picture this. Leave school directly after fourth period, get into Knott's Berry Farm free, get a free meal, and all the drinks you can drink. But . . . and there always is a but . . . you must raise fifty dollars, at least, to go!

This isn't your ordinary get-donations-fund-raiser-type deal, nosiree. We're talking about the MDA Superdance, Rock-n-Ride.

We weren't the only ones at Knott's though, Cerritos, Whitney, Artesia, and Tracy High Schools all participated. In total, all five schools collected $21,400! Of course, Gahr raised the majority, over $10,000. This money will be donated to MDA at the annual Labor Day Tele-thon hosted by Jerry Lewis.

You might think that this was something easy to just, "throw together," yet it took months of hard work. National Youth Chairman, Actor Chris Atkins could vouch for that. So could Mr. Ed Ware and Seniors, Traci Teal, Carolyn Domen, and Heather Vaughn. They had to make sure that envelopes were collected, monies counted, and transportation provided. It isn't easy trying to get 400 people from Gahr to Knots!

The day at Knotts would be like any other; the rides, the fun, the friends! The normal dozen rides on the "Corkscrew" and "Montezooma's Revenge." What was different, though was the Cloud Nine Ballroom dancing after six rigorous hours of fun, rides, and endless walks and lines.

The dance started off with a game, I must admit though, it was a pretty lame game! Imagine this, walking in circles until the music stops, and when it does you must sit upon the lap of the person behind you!

Next came the 50's theme, that was acceptable, learning old dances from the 50's, the Stroll and the Hand-Jive!

That was OK . . . but the premier of the night, of course was hosted by Seniors, Doug Dehlinger, Shawn Quarles, and Manny Figueroa . . . The Limbo!

Everybody got in on the limbo, even Mr. Mario Baca, who didn't do all that bad after all! Limbo was the highlight of the night. Of the top 3 winners, 2 were from Gahr, 3rd place went to Bobbie Wardhaugh, Sophomore, and 2nd place went to Peter Vapor, Junior. After that, the last game was another like the first one. It was to carry a girl on the dance floor and the last person to drop the girl won!

We all shouldn't be selfish, though, thinking only about going to Knott's and getting a free half-day off school. The money collected will benefit those who cannot dance, those who are tormented by muscular dystrophy. That is the whole purpose of this fund-raiser. To donate for wheelchairs, physical therapy and examinations. There was a ulterior purpose to all this and the demand was met!

We're in the Money

Every student is familiar with the good ol' part time job. Isn't it kind of rough, having to go to school while handling a job? For some students, it's the only way to go.

For instance, how about owning a car? Who pays for gas? Who pays for car insurance? Everyone, especially parents, know how high car insurance rates for teenagers are. What happens if the car needs a tune up or repairs? Do mom and dad say "no problem, we'll pay to get it fixed?" This is where the part time job comes in handy whether it's making Big Macs or dishing out ice cream.

Part time jobs do have their rewards. Never again will you have to save to buy that pair of shoes you saw at the mall, or borrow money from friends. Unfortunately, you can bet that friends will start borrowing from you.

Having a job means taking responsibility and moves teenagers in the direction of adulthood. Working also shows parents that you're not "the lazy bum" or "spoiled brat" that they called you all those years. One thing can be sure of, the first job can be an experience that will never be forgotten.

Lending A Helping Hand

Want to feel good about yourself? Do you want to contribute your free time into helping others? Then join a special group of young people known as the Octagon Club. They are a community service group whose purpose is to serve the community in any way they can and to also help various charities.

They participated in many activities including visiting a Convalescent Hospital with Santa Claus, participating in the canned food drive, and giving dinner to a needy family during Thanksgiving. They also decorated a tree during Red Ribbon Week and visited the patients of a Children's Hospital during Easter. As a club they participated in the Walk-A-Thon, had picnics, and had a candy sale. With the money they earned, they donated portions of it to various charities. So if your heart is in the right place, come and join the Octagon Club!

Decorating their tree for Red Ribbon Week, the Octagon Club created a bond of friendship and learned to work together.

CSF held a very successful drawing that raised money for several of their activities and also for Senior scholarships.

Building A Future

The greatest gift a person could ever have is the ability to learn and acquire knowledge. CSF, or California Scholarship Federation, is a scholastic organization that prepares and encourages our future youth to use these gifts to their best potential. In the process, the club allows them to achieve community responsibility and the chance to view some college options.

To join the club, you need a minimum of 3 A's and 1 B. CSF provides guest speakers from colleges and a campus field trip each year. This year they visited UC Riverside. They also sponsor the Special Olympics at Melbourne Elementary School.

Many of their activities are academic competitions like the Spell-A-Thon, Read-A-Thon, and Math-A-Thon. However, many of them are also fun, such as their trip to Disneyland, candy sales, and a drawing.

The money raised from these activities go to Senior scholarships, awards and portions of it go to Red Cross and other local charities. CSF is always a step in the right direction for those preparing for a better future.

"It's fun because we get to go on field trips like UC Riverside and Disneyland! And they also help us for our higher education by offering us scholarships," said Sophomore Kelli Nagano and Marie Macaspac.

LEAN ON ME!

Parents and friends might be good to talk to with your problems, but the group of young people known as the Peer Counselors are even better. They are trained to specialize in helping those with personal and social problems, such as problems with school, depression, and self esteem. Peer Counselors use these skills to help those in ESL and adjusting new students to school. They are responsible for holding welcome orientations for new students, tutoring on a one-to-one basis, and serving as special friends whenever somebody needs a helping hand.

They are also responsible for setting up a campaign against drugs and alcohol by holding Red Ribbon week and Substance Abuse Awareness week. So thanks to this special group of young people, we know that we'll never be alone anymore and that we'll always have someone to "Lean On"! "It's a good program because we can relate to you and help you through your problems," Sophomore, Walter Pico said.

Bringing together two cultures can be done no better than was done by the Spanish club. Not only did they promote the Spanish language and culture, but they provided many social activities to bring the members closer together as well. The club also provided their services to the school and the community. They set up a tutoring program for those who needed help, participated in the canned food drive for the needy over the holidays, and went Christmas caroling at a convalescent home.

As a club they held many fun activities including trips to amusement parks, ice skating, pizza parties, and their most memorable one was defeating the French club in a bowling competition. To promote the Spanish culture they set up multi-cultural luncheons. Thanks to the support of Mrs. Homstad, Ms. Jones, and the active members involved, the Spanish club was a huge success.

Mr. Misner, the advisor to the Soccer Club said, "This is a new club whose purpose is to be a supportive group for the Junior Varsity and Varsity Soccer teams." Most of the members of this club were players of this strenuous game or great fans. Most members attend each game to give moral support to the players.

One of the big functions of the year was the spectacular Christmas party. This party included an "all-you-can-eat" buffet and about five hours of continual dancing in which Billy Perales, Junior, was the DJ. This was a special time where the members grew closer together into a real club.

CREATIVE EYE

If one word could be used to describe the Art Club it would be creativity. Every single person in the club has the "creative eye." They use this in every project they take part in. Pride is shown in every detail of their work. This is what the Art Club is all about.

Brought together because of their interest in art, the club has definitely created new dimensions in the art world. They display their creations throughout the campus.

Whenever the club meets, they do various activities such as drawing, cutting out figures, and painting.

Along with the hard work comes laughs. Whenever their work gets boring or, their life feels like its going to end, they think of the future and laugh. Many friendships are acquired through these funny moments.

The creativity never ends in the Art Club and as this year went on it expanded its horizons and interests in art.

Hot Off The Press

Is it possible to mention hard work and fun in the same breath? The Forum staff thinks so. The leader of the pack, Mr. Escalante, guides his bunch of dedicated students to publish the monthly Forum newspaper. Most students seem to think that working on a newspaper would be tough. "It's really not as hard as people think," said Assistant Editor Monique LeBlanc, Junior.

There is more to the Forum than reporting school news and sports. Journalism students must raise money to pay for the expenses that go in to the production of the newspaper. The staff raised money this year by selling Christmas carnations and balloons at the Homecoming Game.

In between putting out one month's paper and preparing the next, where does all the fun come in? Bobby McGee's in Long Beach could be one example. It was the site of their annual Christmas Party.

Students on the staff think of themselves more as a group of friends rather than a class. Only teamwork could put together a newspaper every month. "Although we're smaller in number, we feel we have accomplished more than in past years," said Editor-in-Chief Jenny Atchison, Junior.

To some students, F.B.L.A. is just a club at Gahr. Out of those students, most don't know what F.B.L.A. stands for. What is F.B.L.A. Yes, it is a club here at Gahr. What does F.B.L.A. stand for? It stands for Future Business Leaders of America. In other words, F.B.L.A. is designed to promote business classes and provide service for the community. F.B.L.A. also prepares students who are interested in a career in business.

F.B.L.A. started the year off with a party. To welcome new members, the advisor, Mrs. Neher, and returning F.B.L.A. members threw a pizza party. During the year, F.B.L.A. had a successful fund raiser, in which delicious candy apples were sold. F.B.L.A. also sponsored a speed typing contest.

Students studying French have to chance to discover this foreign culture in the French Club. Members of the club get the opportunity to learn about French customs, the food they eat, and their different life styles.

This year, French Club members got the chance to challenge the Spanish Club in a bowling match for pizza. A French Club tradition continued with the ever so famous cheese tasting party. Members did their fair share by selling candy to raise money.

Mrs. Miller is the woman behind it all and she enjoys every minute of it. "I wanted to keep students interested in the French culture," she said.

Where would a club be without a party? This year, the French Club celebrated the season with a Christmas party. They took a look at how the French celebrate Christmas.

Dancers Unlimited

The power of the deep bass overwhelms you. Almost simultaneously you find yourself moving to the excited rhythm and beat. Your heart starts pumping and your adrenaline escalates to a natural high as the music overtakes your body. Now is the time to let your hair down and let go.

Maybe you have experienced this at a party or even in your car, but one thing that's for sure is that Joyce Tsaruta's dancers did. Everyday as you walked through the quad you could hear a faint trace of music coming from the Multi Purpose Room. It wasn't someone illegally bringing a ghetto blaster to school, it was, "Dancers Unlimited."

Dancers Unlimited was a group of about 50 young and enthused students who are broken into 3 groups, beginning, advanced, and dance team. This year the dancers performed in great style at Bragg Elementary and at their Annual dance show in May. Aside from doing shows, they delivered those popular Dance Telegrams from students to students. While they were at Bragg Elementary, the grammar students rolled out the red carpet and treated them like true stars.

The team turned almost nothing into something in a short time. The large group of students, which at first were nothing but acquaintances or friends hoping to work together to reach a common goal; to be the best you can be at whatever you are doing. The goal of Dancers Unlimited was to not only be a great dancer, but to make the student a better person through dancing. In dance, the students learned many types of dancing, such as Ballet, Jazz, Tap, Modern, and the ever popular street dancing.

Under the guidance of Joyce Tsaruta, the president, Kristin Becker, Sophomore, and Captains, Michele Sanchez and Tiffany Bingham, Juniors, the Dance Team excelled to new heights. Although it is a young team, it will be exciting to see these dancers in years to come, and for the departing members to maybe even go professional.

Outspoken Dedication

There are many ways for a person to express themselves. The most common way though is through speaking. This group of young, enthusiastic students speak all right. They are the Speech Team.

Under the guidance of Debi Silber, the Gahr Speech Team has escalated to new heights. They have been in many competition tournaments throughout the year. Many people think that it would be easy to get on, and be a part of the team. These fine young students work on speeches in various categories in which the speaker is the strongest. Examples of these speeches would be: Drama, humorous comic type, impromptu, and debate, where team members may state their opinion on a topic.

It wouldn't be a surprise to see any one of these students becoming involved in such careers as broadcasting, politics, and business representation, for all take a great deal of good speech capability.

CHECK MATE

Described as one of the most intellectual and inspiring clubs, the Computer Chess Club started off with another great year. Students have fun playing the game while it challenges their minds because chess is said to be a very hard and challenging game to play.

Instead of playing the old fashioned way on a chess board, these "future" students play it on a modern computer.

This club is also a social gathering in which the students get to know each other in between playing the games.

DOWN THE ALLEY

This year's bowling team started out great. All together there were fifteen teams in which three people played on each team. The teams changed every semester so people would learn to mix and mingle with each other. The bowling team at Gahr bowled every Tuesday for a period of two hours at a time for a low price.

At the end of the year various awards were awarded to the students who bowled the best which means they have the best bowling average. Everyone knows their scores because they record them after every game.

Many people were surprised though, because the bowling club has gone on to many heights. To some people it was a way to practice bowling and for some people it gave them a reason to socialize.

Sharing Gahr Pride

The PTSA plays a vital role in the administration of Gahr. They assist with Back to School Night, Red Ribbon Week, Career Day, and many other school events. They sponsor Gahr High Jinx, Senior Luncheon, and Welcome Back Teachers' Breakfast.

The President, Pat Ruth, chairs the meetings, encourages parents to be involved in education, represents Gahr at ABC Council meetings, and represents parents' views at District Board meetings.

"This year's president's theme is 'Sharing Our Gahr Pride.' As a president, I try to get parents, students, and the community to work together to improve education and make Gahr even better than it is. We also try to let the community know everything good and positive that is happening at Gahr. We work toward the objectives of the PTSA, but we do it as a PTSA, not just a PTA because we want students to be a part of our group," said Pat Ruth.

These Gahr students give time and friendship to high risk elementary students. Artesia and Cerritos High Schools also participate in the program.

After an all day training session, these students are able to help meet the special needs of kids 7-12 years old.

What A Great Team!

Led by Ms. Silber, the Academic Decathlon is a 9 member team that competes against the other schools in L.A. County in 10 different areas. They are: English/ Literature, a particular branch of science, math, fine arts, super quiz, speech, interview, a time period in history, economics, and essay.

The team researches different areas and learn how to take tests. Academic Decathlon has been at Gahr for 4 years, but it has improved in the last 2 years. The team consists of 6 competitors, 3 alternates, and 3 helpers/researchers.

Being a good student is not necessary to participate. Anyone who wants to improve himself can join the team.

"I'm grateful to the staff and students of Gahr for helping recognize the team's potential, and also to the team for making a continuous effort," commented Ms. Silber, the team's advisor.

Timescape

Sign of the Times

Usually, about mid-August students would not be thinking about school, let alone about the yearbook that's supposed to represent the year that hasn't even started yet. But here on the staff most of us had already begun to prepare for the task ahead of us.

It would be a lie to say that it was all work and no play. Our summer training took place at one of the hottest summer spots in the country, Santa Cruz. The University of California at Santa Cruz made an excellent facility to absorb the hard nosed institution of yearbook making. While having fun-in-the sun we learned skills that would enable us to produce a superior book. All in all, the hard work has paid off as you can see in the quality of this book.

Many people think that the yearbook class is a kickback, socializing class. Tell that to our advisor, Rick Renaker, and he'll probably put you to work as he does to us when we slack off. The only reason he gets angry at times is because sometimes we forget how important this project is to many people. The staff has an important task to do. It's as if we are making a time capsule for future generations. What many people seem to forget is that a yearbook is not just an ordinary book with a bunch of words and pictures in it. A yearbook is a reflection of the past, or a sign of the times. It captures the feel, the spirit, and the pride of Gahr and the people who represent it. Years down the road, you will one day pick up this yearbook and show it to your children or even grandchildren. A yearbook is actually a part of you, and that's why our job is so crucial.

In our first year with our new advisor, we produced "Uncovering the Spirit of Gahr." That book gave us many awards. One of them was a third place prize from Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University. Another was a 1st place award from the American Press Association. This award placed us in the top 10 percent of outstanding yearbooks in the country. Also, our cover was selected as one of the top 5 produced by the Herff Jones Yearbook Company nationwide.

It's odd to see a bunch of students who at first didn't know much about each other, in so little time become a family here at Gahr. We've done so much together and have put so much into this book. We hope that this yearbook is as special to you as it is to us. Remember that as you read on through "A Different Dimension."

They weren't taking a bath, as the team had a successful season, going into the second round of CIF. This accomplishment was a result of hard training, a good coach, and a dedicated team that followed Coach Fujimoto when he said, "Play for yourself and play for the team . . . ."

The team trained all through the year and all through a hard summer. The practice involved treading water, pass and drive shots, scrimmaging, and swimming laps; all to get ready for the challenging competition. Jeff Alexen, team captain and M.V.P. said, "We worked hard 'together', and it paid off with a prosperous season."

The team really proved to be number one, as they played their toughest season ever. They had many ups and downs because of the number of Sophomores and beginners on the team, but it didn't hold them back. Scott Laws, Junior, said,, "There were no easy games this year, and we did good. It's all because we had a tough summer."

Unfortunately, Coach Fujimoto had to leave Gahr this year for a better opportunity. He left the team with these words, "There's a nucleus here to continue our dominance. With the players here, there is no reason why the team can't win another three years. Be good in the pool and in school."

Out on a Wing

Flying through the air with wings on their feet, the team was above their opponents. It takes team work and concentration, but what the Lady Glads had, was the skill and talent to be the best.

Coached by Tom Pryor, the Ladies moved through tournaments and worked their way to second place in S.G.V.L. They continued to C.I.F., but lost by 3 points to Ventura in the second round.

"Out toughest game was when we played Lynwood," says Tisha Roberts, Senior. She considers the strong point of the team to be "We don't have a 'star', no one's better than the rest." Apryl Garnett, Junior, thinks the team is unique "because we're good friends and we work good together."

At the end of this tedious season, the Lady Glads are still flying high. They are the talented best.

Jam Session

SW-I-S-H went the net and the score was tied with 2 seconds left on the shot clock. With 1 second left, Gahr rebounded and scored on a quick layup to win the game against Brethren — their first non-league game. Fast paced plays like the one just described could be seen at many of the Boy's Varsity Basketball games. Team captains Eddie Martinez, Junior, and Mark Charbonnet, Senior, led the team to an exciting season of wins and disappointing losses. The team was composed of very experienced and skilled players who were a real challenge to any school they came up against. But dreams of C.I.F. were shattered when Varsity took fourth place because Warren, Downey, and Dominguez all tied for first.

However, the team can be very proud of their league record 6-6 and non-league record of 7-5 which shows that they have a lot of talent and skill which should have promised them a playoff shot. Congratulations Varsity on your excellent job and sportsmanship.

Unity = Victory

Strength, jumping ability ... These things usually come to mind when thinking of a volleyball player. What isn't thought of is the discipline and attitudes. They were also important to our players. What really made the team work was unity!

The team members needed to meet and get to know each other. "We went to fun places together, like Disneyland and Shoreline Village," Coach Okamoto said of how the members got together. After the bonds were made, they practiced and developed their own skills.

Hard work and encouragement allowed the team to finish first in the SGVL. The team also made it to the second round in the CIF play offs. "We met all the goals we made for ourselves," said Nyla Hendrick, Senior.

To get where they were, they needed to work like a machine. They knew what to do and what the others were going to do. They encouraged each other and won. "If you had a bunch of individuals on the floor, it wouldn't work," explained Alicia Burns, Junior. That's what unity's all about!

Cute But Tough

The team was a group of talented young women who learned the art of self discipline through long distance running. The squad consisted mostly of Juniors and Seniors.

Guidance of the team was performed by Coach Busch and Coach Hernandez. Throughout the season the team ran in six meets and pulled out an overall record of 4 victories and 2 defeats. Team competition in the SGVL came from Lynwood, Downey, Dominguez, Warren, Paramount, and our city rival Cerritos. Although every meet was tough, the strongest opposition came from Paramount.

During the season all the runners always put out 110% in every race. One certain individual was always consistent and always did her best. This gem of consistency represented the Junior class and was voted Most Valuable Player; her name was Holly Rudkin.

Another award given was the "Most Inspirational." This award was given to Senior, Kate Robertson.

Here at Gahr, Home of the Gladiators, we are all proud of the performance of this years Girls Cross Country team.

Eye of the Tiger

Coming from the back room into the spot light, thirteen young men put their training, reputation, and dreams on the line. The fierce power of their minds and bodies shone in the "eye of the tiger."

They were hungry for victory and willing to pay the price of blood, sweat, and tears. With their dues paid, they were able to walk away with 1st place in the Downey Tourney Classic and Gahr Summer League, 2nd place in Gahr Invt'l, and 3rd place in the Gahr Dual Tourney and Irvine Vaquero Classic.

After fear was instilled into their competitors, league dual meets added to their sweet victories. Led by captain Mike Walters, Senior, these studs were ready for the worst.

The toughest competition came from Paramount. "We had a 50/50 chance either way, both teams were good," says Coach Charlie Cheek. Varsity took second in S.G.V.L., giving up one victory to Paramount.

The team built their power and learned the moves. They worked from nothing to an office full of trophies and accomplishments. They finished up the season by sending 9 wrestlers to C.I.F. Mike Walters, Senior, achieved second place in the 138 weight class. He went to the Masters Meet, and then State Finals, there he placed fifth.

Through the time and effort, everyone on the team knew the power of possibility. They knew it was like to be in the middle of the eye of the tiger.

A Smash Hit

Action plus the thrill of victory led this year's Girl's Varsity Tennis Team to finish with a record of five and ten. This record led them to a fourth place finish in their league. Girl's Varsity Tennis can only do better in the future years because many of the outstanding and key players will be returning.

Coach Van Smaalen rated his girls as a "7". He believes that the potential this year was there, but there was room for improvement. For the girls, the improvement will be there. Just like the boy's tennis, they will be practicing all year around.

Besides just knowing the strokes for the game, mental preparation is also necessary for winning. Every athlete in every sport has to have the confidence to be good. In tennis, the singles players have to be consistent and make no mistakes, and in doubles, the players have to be more aggressive.

According to Coach Van Smaalen, "The expectation this season was a little higher than last year." Though they only placed fourth this year, M.V.P. Agnes Tomaneng, Junior, and most improved player, Dorothy Berry, Junior, and the rest of the team under the coaching of Van Smaalen can only expect to do better in the years to come.

With Pride

To become #1, it takes more than winning the game. It takes hard work, determination, and a positive attitude. This year's team already contains the ingredients to be the best, so win or lose, they can proudly fall under the title of "Gahr's finest."

Although they are filled with younger players, they still have the pride and great sportsmanship as teams in the past.

To win league for the 4th straight year, is a goal Coach Lou Van Smaalen hopes the team will accomplish. With strong team members such as Akida Mashaka, Sophomore, Kevin Chang, Junior and Quoc Hoang, Junior, it's a good bet that they will take it to the top.

Coach Van Smaalen said, "The team is always wanting to learn more. They put a lot of effort in practice and they enjoy playing." The team is one that has already earned its place in "Gahr Pride".

Imagine racing with the wind and being able to keep up with it, or running a couple of miles just to warm-up for the meet. That's the kind of effort put out by the Girl's Varsity Track team.

At every meet, the team made a commitment to challenge every team so that they could send someone to the State Meet. The team is well known for their hard work and their excellent standings in the SGVL.

The team had many strengths from several returning athletes: Junior, Calondra Jolly — sprinter and hurdler, Sophomore, Jevivvien Jones — sprinter and relays, Sophomore, Bobbie Wardhaugh — hurdles and relays, and Junior, Rayna Jessop, Freshman, Wendy Featherstone, and Senior, Martina Gregorio are all strong in the long distance runs.

''State In 88''

To be the best, you must make a total commitment to excellence in track. They don't have to tell anyone of their commitment because actions speak louder than words. Those extra sets of 400's that they push themselves to run, all take a place in this year's theme, STATE IN 88, meaning some way, some how as a team they have committed themselves to getting someone to a state meet.

In the past 13 years Gahr has had only one person go to a state meet. They hope to change that this year. Coach Steve Orr has given out T-shirts that has this year's theme on them to remind and encourage everyone. Some good candidates for making it are Marcel Brown in the 100m and 200m, Tim Young long jump, and Al Allen 800m.

"They have a very promising team this year," said Coach Steve Orr.

Gahr has a very fine staff of coaches. For the sprinters: Coach Paul Broughton, shotputters and discus: Coach Jim White, Hurdlers: Coach Darrell Walsh, jumpers and triple jumpers: Coach Steve Orr, distance: Coach Mike Hernandez, and Coach Misner for pole vault and high jump.

Life With Tom

On the grass sat 18 young men; but they weren't just any young men. They were 18 young, mature athletes who all had one thing in common. These young men loved to play baseball, and they were good, the best in the school.

These athletes prepared themselves for their daily routine: a couple laps around the green, their pep talk, and then practice. Coached by Tom Bergeron and assistants, Ken Busch and Sonny Okamoto, this team, ranked as a "9" by Coach Bergeron, started and ended their season rather well.

Through his sixteen years of coaching, Coach Bergeron has learned that making a baseball team needs more than just students good at the game. "I like people who are honest with themselves, who put in a good effort and don't cheat and who are not involved with drugs. That's very important to me because those kind of people usually don't have confidence in themselves."

You can see that he really follows this criteria when you see his players. His best team members are Jesse Osuna, Joe Oropeza, Juniors, and Kenney Humphrey, Senior, who, even though his whole team has great potential, have the best chance of taking their ability and turning it into a profession.

Coach Bergeron ranks himself as a coach as a "9.8" out of 10, but he says that he wouldn't have been able to do it without his 10 out of 10 assistants, Coach Busch and Coach Okamoto.

As the years pass, many teams pass and so do many good baseball players. Don't be surprised to see another Shane Mack or Tom Nieto, just two pros who used to play for the one and only Tom Bergeron.

"Being on the varsity baseball team makes me feel proud because Gahr baseball is known for its great ability to win."

Splishing And A Splashing

Splish Splash I was taking a bath . . . In swimming there is a lot of splashing but it certainly is no bath. The girls varsity swimming team puts in a hard work-out everyday, often consisting of 2500 meters. This is a normal everyday practice to prepare them for their swim meets.

There are eight different events that the girls participate in. They are the medley relay, 200 meter freestyle, 500 meter freestyle, 100 meter butterfly, 100 meter breast stroke, 4x100 meter relay, and the 200 meter relay.

Some of these events are individual, whereas some of these are relays that include up to four people. One of the things that makes swimming an interesting sport is that although it is a team sport, most of the points earned are earned in individual events.

Each of the points earned are added together to form the team's score. This is why the aspect of support is important.

One new addition to the swim team this year that has had an impact on the team is the new head coach Doug Kimberly. Steve Frydman, the coach for the girls varsity team says that this changeover is "definitely" going to affect the team. Coach Steve Frydman feels that former coach Norm Fujimoto, having previously worked with him up until this year, and Doug Kimberly, are both "comparably good coaches." The only real difference will be seen through their coaching techniques.

With the skill and determination of each of the team players, their goal is to grow as a team and do well in the league.

"Swimming is very important to me. I think that I'd be lost without it."

On The Top

For many years, Coach Norm Fujimoto coached our championship, swim team. Fujimoto left Gahr this year which resulted in the team searching for a new coach. Mr. Doug Kimberly, while working on his teaching credential, has much experience in coaching, as he has coached for ten years with many teams including the USS water polo clubs. He now is coaching Swimming and Water Polo here at Gahr.

The team of sixteen swimmers is described by the coach as "fun-loving, hard workers." He explains that, "They are all friends, and their personalities mix well, making my job easier." The players' strong, winning attitudes drive them to succeed and mix well with the coach's expectations.

The training is strict and lasts two hours each day. At practices, which are held with the music playing, the team swims approximately 6,000 yards. They swim with pulling equipment for 60% of the time, kick for 30%, and swim for the other 10%. Then, they work with Coach Ron Parks on strokes.

The team is working with many bad and good points. They have four Sophomores, a disadvantage, but this will help the team in future years. They also have lost two All-American players and have been burdened this year with sickness and injuries. But, Coach Kimberly predicts that despite the toughest competition ever that they will face this year, the team should end up third in the league. Also, Mike Reyes, Senior, in the coach's eyes, has a good shot for CIF.

The players work hard for themselves and then root for the others, which reflects positively on the team as a whole. This is what has gotten the team the championship, something they are working hard to continue this year. Keep floating on the top!

Fight for a Goal

"This year's team is the product of three years of building the team, and this is the best year that I've had with the team since I started coaching again . . . my soccer team is probably the best collection of talented players in the San Gabriel Valley League," said Mr. Dennis Misner, head coach for this year's Varsity.

The team consists of 10 Seniors, 6 Juniors, 2 Sophomores, and 2 Freshmen. We should have a very good team for next year. This year's team wasn't bad either. They had a wonderful record of 7 wins, 2 ties, and 3 losses. They placed third in league and also made it to C.I.F. They also won the Santa Anna Tournament.

"They get frustrated every once in a while but they seem to play together when their chips are down, and they do have up and down periods which they struggle through, but when that happens the key players pick up the team," said assistant coach Gary Hubert, who was an all star player for the team in 1977.

Making a Point

This years Varsity Football team didn't win any games but they never quit trying. The goals for the team were to have a team of players that developed more than just as football players, but developed mentally and emotionally as athletes and as maturing young men. All of these goals were met, but of course the overall goal of making it to CIF was not.

"Sometimes the true test of growth and maturity and becoming an adult is how well you handle diversity. It's real easy to be a winner if you've always had success. It's really easy to be positive then, but the real test of how you mature and how you grow is how you learn to handle diversity. I think our football team grew tremendously this year." Said Head Coach Darrell Walsh.

Most Improved

Water Polo evolves into faster play, more excitement, and greater skill when it comes to Junior Varsity. Coach Fujimoto said, "They improved the most, they played good, started in last place and worked their way up to second place."

Water Polo is a sport one cannot just read about. It is best to go out and watch a few games. The intensity, suspense, and sheer thrill from a Water Polo game can be compared to a good horror movie.

Because of all the different techniques, skills, and strategies, many biased people might say that Water Polo is a sport for men. Wrong. As a matter of fact there were quite a few girls on the team. Sophomore, Sylvia Salinas, says, "The girls were treated equally, like one of the guys." Water Polo is a sport which seems to contain unbiased teams, that is probably what makes Water Polo so special.

This team was dedicated and worked real hard to earn the place they had earned. The Junior Varsity team ended their season with three wins and three losses in league play.

Water Polo is a game that requires much skill and dedication. The games are intense and action packed. The Frosh/Soph team had many new players willing to show off their newborn talent, and they are very fast learners.

Coach Fujimoto said, "They did real well, they work hard, have an interest in the sport and have shown lots of improvement." The Frosh team had many people try out for the sport and it showed. The majority of the members stayed with the team through their winning season.

For a team to have a winning season, many components must be combined. A dedicated, strategic coach, dedicated players, and many refined practiced skills. Frosh/Soph Water Polo players had all three. They practiced hard and were pushed by their coach. The team was very dedicated to the sport and practice.

Our Approach

"With confidence this year we were able to take second place behind Lynwood, but with the confidence we have among each other, the team will always have first place." — Sandy Sagert, Sophomore

"Everybody makes a team what they are. Every player is as important as the M.V.P. because they play each other in practice and push each other to their fullest potential." — Coach Greg Riphagen

A unique approach for the girls Junior Varsity basketball team to improve their game was demonstrated in how they practiced. Varsity and Junior Varsity practiced against each other, advancing each other's skills. During the practices against each other, Varsity gained confidence while the less experienced Junior Varsity players strived to beat them and gained experienced ability.

Teamwork showed throughout the season with a great record of 12-2. "The girls Junior Varsity team is basically a family. We all work together as a team." — Keesler Myers, Sophomore

"Being on J.V. helped me to improve myself for Varsity next year. Our team is just a family of sisters with Coach Riphagen as our father." — Shayna Swayzer, Sophomore

With such confidence, dedication, and a unique approach to practice the J.V. girls always strive to be the best that can be.

The coach of the team, Mr. Rapheal, was temporarily out of the season for medical reasons, but Coach Stewart took over with pleasure.

These guys went through hard practices, 5 days a week from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., but that hard work paid off.

This is the second year they have won lst. place in the La Mirada tournament. They also took 5th place in the Boscotech tournament.

Special awards went to Robbie Carmen, Troy Gepford and Thomas Doublet, Juniors.

When a team has many unexperienced players, it takes many long hours of practice and hard work to set up a team.

That is how hard the J.V. Girls Tennis Team worked. They did their best to show their strength and Gahr pride, with 3 wins and 12 losses.

The fresh new team was under the direction and guidance of Coach Mel Lew.

"The team did well, slow at the beginning, but after the first-second round of the games the girls started to do lot better." said Coach Lew.

The girls underwent rigorous training in the summer to try and prepare for the upcoming tournaments.

"It was tough but we all made it through." said Hwa Yon Cho, Freshman.

The Junior Varsity team returned for another smashing season. They improved much from the start of the season with returning players such as Juniors, Richard Kahng, Morrison Chen, and Paul Park. "They've helped the team with their confidence and hard work during the summer," said Coach Mel Lew, about their special contributions to the team.

Although J.V. had many strong points to their game,Coach Lew worked to teach the fundamentals. These added to their game and helped them to perform instinctively while maintaining their concentration and intensity.

In their pre-season matches they had two great wins and they did extremely well, even in their losses. Every player agreed the team was an all around better team than last year. With such a well-rounded and eager team it is very likely to lead them to a league championship!

"This season we are stronger. Everyone works hard, practices, and gets along well together. These are the reasons why we should take league this year and go undefeated!"

Team Work!

If you ever watch them at practices and games, it's obvious the team has a lot of spirit and talent.

"We lost a lot of players last year so we're a fairly new team. In the beginning of the season it was sort of rough, but then we started working together as a team. It turned out pretty good, especially since there are a lot of good players," commented Anna Campos, Junior.

With solid pitching and catching on their side, it will be no surprise if they become league champions.

"We have a fine group of young ladies here who have a strong desire to compete and win. I anticipate and will expect nothing less than finishing our season in first place," said Coach Dan Madera.

Sandy Sagert, Sophomore pitcher, said, "Pitching is one part of the game, but you need the whole team to play and win."

Crystal Kelley, Freshman, says, "It's going to be a fun year. We have so much fun out on the field and we all work together. Whenever anyone messes up we never put them down, but we help them. Being on a softball team is not only hard work, but it's fun, too."

"The Juniors on our team help us Freshmen out a lot and the Sophomores know what's going on, so they help us too. Whenever we don't know what to do, we always go to someone who does," explained Crissy Meroshenokoff, Freshman. "We get on one another's nerves sometimes but we're really just one big, happy family," says Jennifer Hoosac, Junior and co-captain.

Jamin'

J.V. Baseball came alive during the pep talk. A few words of encouragement from Coach Sonny Okamoto and quiet time-afterwards to think about the game.

These young men are in the middle of their baseball career at Gahr. They aren't the underdogs, but they're not quite the best. They spend their practices adding to the many talents required by the game. The closer they get to Varsity, the harder they fight to keep their position. More time is needed in perfecting batting techniques and speed. They do this because they want to be the best this year and the year or two to come.

In midflight, these thoughts of yesterday's victories and tomorrow's challenges dominate their minds. In these minutes of concentration before a game, each player thinks about himself as a winner or loser.

The silence is broken and in the field, the positions and procedures are second nature. What really matters at the J.V. level is the decision to win. Having made this decision, our guys have the chance to better their baseball careers.

Fresh

Freshman started underneath first base. But at least they made it there. A group of strangers, brought together by the common desire to play ball. They first met at tryouts, on the field, already in fierce competition for a seat on the bench.

After the cuts were made, 15 young men were left to walk to second base. There, positions were filled and uniforms were handed out.

Practices were held daily from 7th period until five p.m. Pop flies, batting practice, and just tossing the ball around got everyone on the right track. The time between practices and their first game wasn't long, but they made the most of it.

Finally they snuck to third base. The whole team was ready to play a real game of baseball. Anxiety pumped the blood through nervous hearts, and it was time to prove their worth. With this victory upon them, they slid into home.

They slid into home plate for a celebration. To win or to loose, the Frosh proved themselves to be a team.

They're wet. They're fast. They're the Gahr High Swim Team. In a sport that has been around for centuries, they excel. The hours of swimming, weightlifting, running, and other physical (as well as mental) training will definitely show up in the various swim meets in which they participate.

The athletic ability and mental stability of those young individuals only goes to show that life does go on after ex-coach Norm Fujimoto.

So how did they get along without Fujimoto? They did it with the help of coaches Galen Diaz, and Sean Macfarland. Jack Chang, Freshman, says of the coaches, "They're new around here, but they know what they are doing."

What makes a good swimmer? "A good swimmer usually has to be a good athlete. The better athlete, the better swimmer," says Coach Macfarland. "The next step would be to work on stroke technique, needing to build strength, and conditioning the body."

The team worked hard. With the encouragement and support of friends and family, they did their best. "I think we have a good chance at winning league," said Coach Macfarland. Jennifer Suarez, Freshman, feels, "That with the right practice and training, we'll improve in time".

Running Wild

The heat was suddenly getting to him, but he could not stop. He knew the team was counting on him. As he approached the final stretch, the realization hit him; he was going to win the race!

This dream has come true for many of the track members. This year has been a tremendous year for high hopes. As Coach Steve Orr said, "This year we're trying to accomplish the goal of a league championship, and building the boy's strength for the next year's Varsity team."

Their dreams may be far-fetched but not impossible. Through hard work their major goals can be obtained. Their practice is sometimes compared to an army boot camp. The process of vigorous work-outs and running are a part of life. An average of two hours per day is spent doing this. They work very hard so they can eventually achieve their goal.

There are many positive aspects to track. It's a great way to stay in shape and lose those extra pounds. It is also a way to make new friends. Since the team members spend many hours together for so long, something has to happen.

The team proves that they can make anything possible happen as Fernando Chavez, Sophomore, one of the captains, said, "Everyone on our team works hard toward their goals to make the team the best it can be."

On their way

The J.V. Volleyball, coached by Kip Yoshimura, consisted of two Juniors, four Sophomores, and six Freshmen. J.V. Volleyball has the reputation of being one of Gahr's better sports and this year they're certainly living up to it.

"We have a lot of talent, spirit, and ambition on our team," said Gina Di Corpo, Junior, who is captain. "We've been undefeated for the last four years, and we plan on making it five.

Kip Yoshimura was the coach and this was his first year coaching at Gahr.

"Our team was made up of hard workers and was dedicated to reach their goal of S.V.G.L. championship. They have worked hard for reaching Varsity status, and their maturity and dedication is going to get them there," boasts Coach Yoshimura.

The team was able to meet their goal of league championship by winning every game. They also sent five players to Varsity for C.I.F. playoffs. They were Tess Blom, Gina Di Corpo, Keri Brindle, DeDe Weiman, and Mimi Nguyen.

Looks That Kill

If you had attended any of the J.V. Wrestling matches or tournaments, you would have seen some great feats of friendship, teamanship, and sportsmanship. While each individual is wrestling, the entire team is coaching him. Whether he wins or looses, he know that he can go to his team members for support.

Although wrestling is a sport of strength, it is also a sport of knowledge and mental preparedness. Each wrestler must know that he will win before he steps forward to meet his competition.

"The definite high point of the season was when we scored 75-0 against Lakewood, and that was with no forfeits." — Coach Cheek

Led by their coach, Charles Cheek, and three captains; Darren Kim, Junior, J.R. Medina, Junior, and Jeff Moeller, Junior, the J.V. team had a very successful year. Even though fourteen players on the team were inexperienced, this didn't prevent them from taking third place in the SGVL league. This came from winning fourteen out of their seventeen dual matches. Every tournament that the Gahr wrestlers attended, they walked away with a lst or 2nd place trophy; five in all.

Their toughest competition, Warren, didn't get the best of them until the second match towards the end of the season. Warren was one of the only three teams that Gahr lost to.

Taking Charge

The last three minutes of the game and the score is tied. The team is playing its toughest competition, Lynwood.

The air is filled with a competitive struggle. The ball moves swiftly back and forth across the playing field. The action is intense and the atmosphere is filled with team spirit and precise cooperation of all the players on the team. Those few words provide the environment of a J.V. soccer game.

A team of skilled players cooperating and playing together. A variety of nationalities and age groups all gather together to participate in the international game of soccer.

Under the leadership of Coach Gary Hubert, Coach Dennis Misner and captains Ben Salazer, Junior, and Phillip Salazer, Sophomore, the team has won a great majority of their games. The team wouldn't be the team it is however, without a group of players that inspire them, like Albert Jacome, Sophomore, Ben Salazer, Junior, Phil Salazer, Veto Casillas, Sean Uyematsu, and Hector Marquez, Sophomores.

The team undergoes vigorous workouts consisting of stretching and running and constant practice. These contribute to their success on the fields.

The Frosh Team took second place in league. They were coached by Mr. Stewert, Mr. Beatty and Mr. Escalante.

When football training first started during the spring and summer, the coaches were a little scared, as only 17 guys came out which made the coaches happier.

Their record was 8-2. Their defense was tough and only two schools scored against them.

The quarterbacks were Darius Cunnigan and Allen Thompson. Darius was used mainly for running the ball and Allen more for passing.

This years MVP went to Louis Flores, an outstanding asset to the team. Other awards went to Darius Cunnigan for the offensive team and Juan Bustamank for the defensive team.

"Non-Stick" Basketball

Basketball is a game of many skills, etiquettes, and rules. It is said that experience grows with time. Not only did Sophomore Basketball have experience, it had ability. "Consider well what your strength is equal to, and what exceeds your ability," Horace.

The team had the ability, it had the skill, but did it have the application. According to Aaron Bednar, it didn't, "The team was good but . . . the team didn't apply themselves."

To tell the truth, Sophomore basketball didn't exactly play with the hopes or goals they had set for themselves. The most valuable player was Andre Coleman. Just because the team didn't win every game and they didn't always apply themselves, doesn't say that the team is bad or doesn't have any hope at all.

Improve With Time

Basketball has many skills, strategies, and tactics all twisted into one sport. It is one of the many sports where there are not many items or equipment needed to play.

One-on-one is a form where two people play against one another. But a team of five has to be organized and according to Coach Greene, "Frosh Basketball is most improved."

To improve as a team a team must first improve as a whole. According to Coach Greene the top three Frosh Basketball players likely to further succeed are Eric Rosales, Damion Phillips, and Curtis Gardenhire. One just can't toss five kids together, give them uniforms and a basketball and tell them to go win a few games. It just doesn't happen that way. Being new to the system, they did lose to teams that they should've beaten. Providing their self-worth, they improved themselves and beat the teams that previously beat them! Congratulations Frosh Basketball!

THE SHADOW STORIES

All Wrapped Up

It's October, a Thursday night at 10:00 pm, and fifteen Varsity Football players and stat girls are in Gahr's parking lot piling 75 rolls of toilet paper and boxes of Cheerios into their cars. They were ready to go on an exciting excursion to our cross-city rival . . . Cerritos High School.

Through the preceding week of Homecoming, Carol Stewart and Jeff Moeller planned to gather friends together to toilet paper Cerritos H.S. On Thursday night, they proceeded to toilet paper and throw Cheerios all over the entire grounds. They ran into trouble with the police, though, because it was "destruction of property." They dropped everything and ran to Heritage Park.

Senior Chris Samples, said, "I never knew that Bobbie Wardhaugh could run so fast, and she hopped the 15 foot fence faster than any of us."

— Bobbie Wardhaugh

The police, with permission from Cerritos H.S. janitors, allowed the students to finish the job, as long as they didn't destroy anything. From 11:00 pm to 12:00 pm, they finished their job and topped it off by climbing up the flagpole and hanging a dummy and a Cheerio box on top. They also changed the marquee from "Come watch our football team beat Gahr" to "Come watch our football team get beat by Gahr 32-0, Hurray!" Chris Samples said, "All I could say was, 'Yea, this looks great.' We had so much fun and it did look good!"

Wrong Place, Bad Time

"Although I didn't know her personally, being in the room when it happened was one of the saddest and most frightening things I've experienced." — Rhandy Acuna, Junior.

It was an unforgettable Saturday night when Tina Kang was shot and killed at a party attended by some of Gahr's students. On September 26, 1987, Tina, a Sophomore at Valley Christian High School, was struck in the back with a bullet shot at random.

She was described as a serious, studious girl whose parents seldom allowed her to attend parties. Those guys just fired into the crowd.

Two teenage boys were brought to justice shortly after her death. This, however, could not make up for the unreasonable circumstances under which she died, nor the grief felt by those who loved her. Pleasant thoughts and much love will always remain with her memory.

All Shook UP!

"I thought it was my imagination for a couple of seconds!" — Elizabeth Cantey, Junior.
"Pots started falling when I was in Ceramics class!" — Felicia Lynch, Senior.

The October 1st quake happened at 7:43 AM. It was soon followed by two aftershocks.

Most of the students at Gahr had never witnessed or ever been in such a tremor before. Yu Lie, Junior, who moved to California from the Midwest at the beginning of the year, was a bit startled. "Everything started to shake. This was my first earthquake. I didn't know what it was at first."

Since the earthquake happened near the end of first period and in the midst of arriving second period students, teachers and administrators instructed students to go out to the softball field and find their third period homeroom teachers.

While everyone was on the softball field, the atmosphere was a bit tense. Leave it to John Choi, Junior, to ease the tension. While a group of friends were leaning on a basketball pole, John Choi deliberately shook it. Even though it frightened a few people, it got more laughs than any thing.

Gahr came through this earthquake without much damage and the teachers, students and administrators will remember this day forever.

A Helping "CAN"

A couple of years ago, Americans poured millions of dollars into projects designed to feed starving nations thousands of miles away. They naively overlooked the starving thousands right here in America, many of which are neighbors in local communities.

In an effort to battle against hunger on the homefront, Gahr holds an annual can food drive around Thanksgiving time. A name familiar to dedication and hard work comes to mind: Mr. Baca's Homeroom. These students vary from year to year, but the greatness is the same.

"They give over 100% of themselves. Often, it goes beyond the class. Parents donate money to buy canned foods, grocery stores donate or give discounts. The thirty dollars won from the tree decorating contest also went to buying cans," stated Mr. Baca.

The motivation is incredible. Under the leadership of Gines Gines, this team of people joined together for a single cause. Many alumni returned to help. Mr. Baca's reason for such a large turnout is "Human emotions. Caring, sharing,and it's the season. We don't do it alone, we do the work, but we don't give all the cans."

Door to door neighborhood can collections involve an entire community. "There's no extra credit, no classroom party involved, it's just the excitement of being together and running around," said Mr. Baca.

"Everybody puts us down by calling us cheaters, and we're not. They made us want to prove even more that we're not," said Christine Verduzco, Senior, sticking up for her homeroom.

At the end, when some cans are personally distributed by the home room members, the contest no longer matters. Everyone who has participated has won a small battle in the world of malnutrition. We can thank Mr. Baca and his homeroom for leading the way and hopefully opening the eyes and hearts within our community. Their dedication is true of Gahr Pride and human kindness.

Duck and Cover?

A typical day with a typical bulletin starting off with a test of the Emergency Broadcasting System. Shortly after the messages and thought for the day were read, Mr. Connely came with an earthquake drill.

"Duck and Cover, Duck and Cover. I repeat, Duck and Cover." Silence hit the air, students didn't know if it was part of the bulletin or an actual drill. Teachers were just as confused.

"The shaking has stopped. Please exit to the P.E. fields," Mr. Connely announced to the delight of third period students. Classes were dismissed to the field casually and calmly.

It was a long twenty minutes for a drill, and rumor had spread that there was a bomb threat. Anxiety took hold of those who knew, but the bell rang signifying that all was safe.

Once back in our classes, Mrs. Barreto commended the student body and explained the whole situation. Summarized, the bomb threat was called in during second period by someone taken to be an adult. For the safety of the students, the administrators took this anonymous call seriously. Mrs. Barreto also announced the threat turned out to be just a hoax.

After class resumed and everyone settled down, the question looms, "What if it had been real?"

Everything To Know About Sex

"The Human Anatomy of Males and Females." "The teenage problems that we all must deal with." Those are only some of the many subjects which are discussed in Mrs. Beal's Sex Education class.

Mrs. Beal has been teaching State Requirements for nine years. Her Sex Ed. class consists of guest speakers every quarter, such as the sheriff, teen mothers from Tracy High School, and the nurse, Joyce Miles.

The learning of sex education includes terminology, group situations about dating, decisions about sex, and the reading of the popular green and white book, Finding My Way. Not only is dating males and females learned, but also the dangers of having sex and all the different types of diseases known as V.D. and AIDS.

Students look at sex education class in different ways. "It's interesting and it's fun to have," says Ricky Oviatt, Sophomore.

"It's educational and it helps us learn more about ourselves," says Hector Marquez, Sophomore.

"Mrs. Beal is a good teacher, but I think it should be taught during an earlier grade level," says Lisa Mosqueda, Sophomore.

Physics Festivity

Over the past three years, Gahr High physics classes have grown from a single offering to four full classes and next year Mr. Elliot hopes to add a fifth. Interest in the class has been sparked by activities like the Balloon-Powered Vehicle Race, and last week's Rocket Blast.

Imagine a lab in which students build rockets from plastic and cardboard, equip them with solid rocket propellant, determine mathematically how high they will fly, and then fire them into the air; all the while hoping that the parachutes will deploy at the right moment carrying their creations safely to the ground.

Students were very creative with air-brush, striping and humor in their designs. Rockets resembling barber poles to Kling-on warships all had their chance on the pad. The lighter missiles equipped with powerful engines reached over 1000 feet, while exact altitudes were measured by students using elevation angles and trigonometry.

Scott Hu, Senior, equipped his rocket with a camera to take aerial photographs of the campus. Matt Shahon, Senior, equipped his with a Fred Flintstone astronaut. Others put glitter inside to celebrate the deployment of parachute and streamer.

An exciting day was had by physics students and many others who somehow found their way out of class to share in this event.

Mr. Elliot

— Mike Oh

Three, two, one, blast off!! Martina Gregorio, Senior, and Jack Chuang, Junior, set up their rocket and get ready for the countdown.

To Eat Out Or Not To Eat Out

If you can drive and you've got a car, do you think you should be able to go off campus for lunch, like to McDonald's or Wendy's? Well, many students feel they should be able to. "I think most students who drive are responsible enough and wouldn't abuse this privilege," said David Rodriguez, Senior.

It's a very controversial issue at our school. There are a number of schools nationwide that have an off campus lunch program, as it is officially called. Why doesn't our school adopt an off campus lunch program? Well, our administration feels that it wouldn't be very wise or very safe for our school. "I think it's an unhealthy position for Gahr to be in," states Mr. Smuts. "Students hustle to classes, there could be traffic problems, truancy and tardiness result in the period after lunch is over. It's very bad. Security is weakened. It's one of the good reasons why we shouldn't have it."

Those do sound like acceptable reasons not to have an off campus lunch program, but it's been proven to work since there are schools around the United States using this program who have no problem with it. As Mr. Smuts noted, students may be late to class. but wouldn't it be the student's own fault? Isn't it just like being late to your first class in the morning:? It is true that security does become weakened. This is the main problem with it and is a good reason to not have the program.

Well, you decide: Do you think that our school deserves to have an off campus lunch program? Or do you feel that maybe it is a bit dangerous and should not be a part of our school?

Here Kitty, Kitty!

Once upon a time, there was a little girl who had a kitten. She played with the kitten and scratched his ears. One day, her family moved away. In the excitement, they forgot their kitten.

For months, this poor kitten wandered the streets, ate leftover leftovers, and curled up in lonely dark corners to sleep. He passed the time from being an abandoned kitten to an alley cat. He was forced to live under circumstances of hardship and coldness.

One day, he wandered onto Gahr campus, and found a cozy place to sleep. In a matter of days, friendly hands welcomed his presence with a scratch behind the ears. A food and water dish was set up by the computer room, and instead of calling him 'him,' he has been christened as "Gahrcat."

Mrs. Barbara Lewis has taken an extra fondness to Gahrcat. She has a special place in her classroom where Gahrcat sleeps the day away.

This alley cat went from being friendless to having people that cared about him. Gahrcat would always come if you called "Here Kitty, Kitty, Kitty!" He's very friendly and always appreciates a good scratch behind the ears.

Unfortunately Gahrcat couldn't stay with our school very long. The S.P.C.A. (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) was called, and they came and took Gahrcat away. However, Mrs. Lewis found him a 'proper' home, but nothing can replace the warmth of our campus.

The Best

"It doesn't get any better than this," are the immortal words of Hal Conley, retiring Asst. Principal. He was one of the first workers at Gahr when it opened in 1965 and one of the main reasons he's working at Gahr is to "help kids get a better start in life". The discouraging point he exclaims is "when students drop out or lose interest in school."

This teacher of many subjects, who has taught History, Health, and Driver's Education, describes himself as using "common sense". He tries to teach students to make the right choices at the right time.

When asked "What will you miss the most here at Gahr?", he replied, "The various people I've worked with."

Mr. Hal Conley will be greatly remembered and missed. And from everyone at Gahr, we wish Mr. Conley the best of retirement.

The Greatest Band On Earth

The lights slowly dim down . . . Anticipation and excitement fill the air. The only sounds heard are the cheers and screams of awaiting fans.

Suddenly, the sound of a guitar emerges through the atmosphere. The Edge leads the way with his guitar into "Where The Streets Have No Name" as the audience jump in their seats. The soulful voice of Bono echoes throughout the LA Coliseum. The concert of the decade by the group of the century has begun.

U2 has accomplished their most popular tour, which made fans around the world even more devoted to this band. It also made them more well-known. Now, instead of people saying, "U who?", people say, "I can't live without this group!"

Craig Crumpley, Sophomore, was one of the people to see U2 on November 18. "I think one of the greatest things about it all was its widespread appeal," said Craig. "There was everything from punkers to funkers at the concert. They all knew that U2 would be one of the biggest groups of the eighties and they all wanted to be able to say they were there!"

U2, consisting of lead singer, Paul Hewson, better knows as Bono, lead guitarist, Dave Evans, better known as The Edge, bass guitarist Adam Clayton, and drummer, Larry Mullen, Jr., started their tour September 10 at Nassau Coliseum in Uniondale and ended it in Hampton Coliseum in Hampton on December 12. They performed at the LA Coliseum on November 17 and 18, selling out both of their concerts. "The Joshua Tree Tour", named after their sixth album, The Joshua Tree, sold out in all 35 locations and 45 dates.

It's good to see a band like U2 start to gain the fame they long deserved. For a long time, they've been mega-famous in the "underground" world of music. They've participated in worthy money-raising causes, like Band-Aid, Live-Aid, and the Amnesty International Tour, which they helped organize. A band as great as this certainly deserves the fame they've finally reached. Hopefully, they'll live up to their rank fans have placed on them as the greatest band on earth.

Undersea Fantasy

Picture this: clear, blue salt water and no clouds in a picture perfect sky. The weather couldn't be better. It is about eighty degrees at Corona Del Mar, the site where we go to do some SCUBA diving. Think about this: skipping two weeks of P.E. to learn how to breath with a scuba tank on your back, becoming neutrally buoyant underwater and diving to catch an octopus or two, valued at ten dollars each. Do you remember your first scuba or snorkel dive . . . could that happen to be at Baja Reef at Marineland? Taking scuba during school is similar to being at the Baja Reef, but there aren't as many fish.

There are two classes of scuba. First, there is the fully certified class which costs a "mere" hundred and fifty dollars. Then there is an introductory class, which costs a "mere" sixty-five dollars. The major differences between the two are (1) a fully certified person can get air tanks filled at a dive shop, and (2) certified divers can dive with another fully certified diver, anywhere!

There are many parts to the scuba diver's equipment. There is the Self Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus, or simply the scuba tank. Then there is the Buoyancy Control Device, or simply the BCD vest. Then there are the wetsuits and fins, the masks and snorkels, and not to forget the weight belts, which makes the whole thing heavier.

Diving is an experience everyone should try. There are many new things to see and animals to admire. When you are underwater you are in control. You are not bothered by the sounds of civilization or the problems associated with it. Underwater, you are free.

Holiday Friends

At Christmas time, people seem to be at their best and are more willing to help other people. At Gahr, there is a club on campus that is willing to help others at any time of the year. During Christmas, Special Friends, Target Corporations, and the Career Center joined together for a special "Holiday Shopping Event."

On December 8, 1987, Target was closed to the public. On this day, senior and disabled citizens were bussed in to shop. Some came as far away as Pico Rivera.

As each person entered Target, they were greeted with a music choir and given a carnation from a special friends member. The Jazz Band and Choir, accompanied by Sophie Kim, Senior, on the piano, provided live music for the citizens as they shopped throughout the store.

Each citizen was provided with loving care by a Special Friends member, and the store was set up in a way that was most convenient for the senior and disabled citizens.

Special Friends pushed carts for some of the citizens while others helped by pushing wheelchairs or picking out gifts. Each citizen was also given a 10% discount along with free gift wrap.

Some Special Friends were stationed at the gift wrap tables, and they wrapped packages for the citizens. This service was especially appreciated since many of the shoppers were either young children with Down's Syndrome or elderly people with arthritis.

Not only was this "Holiday Shopping Event" a service to the community, but it also benefited some students at Gahr. This was just the first step to the newly forming Target-Gahr partnership. This means that Target will give job opportunities through Gahr's Career Center. Dana Lipert, the organizer of this event, and Mr. Gary Taira, in charge of the Career Center, were both very enthusiastic about this new partnership and they were very pleased with the special "Holiday Shopping Event."

Living Free

The low murmur of voices drowns into silence when the music begins. In the make-shift chapel of room 500, the guests turned around and awaited the bride. Hal Haynes, Senior, stood nervously with sweat on his brow. Kelli Armstrong, Senior, the bride, made her procession down the aisle in a borrowed dress. At the altar, she was given away by Joey Cubit, Senior. The ceremony was short, and in the name of Tammy Baker, Hal and Kelli were pronounced Holy Friends. They were graciously allowed to shake hands.

Directly following the ceremony was a reception. It was held next door in the home economics room. The couple fed each other cake, but most of it ended up on their noses. They also used last year's prom glasses to sip sparkling apple cider in the intertwined arm tradition. A short dance with socializing ended this wild period.

Is this the new fad in wedding style? No, it is the product of the third period Adult Lifestyles Class led by Mrs. Cathy Bergeron. Weeks of planning and preparation were involved in putting this 55 minute ceremony together. First, the students assumed different roles in the wedding (Bride, Groom, maid-of-honor, best man, helpers, etc.). A local bridal shop lent the use of matching dresses, but the men, with the exception of the groom, came cool and casual. "Robinsons" on the Cerritos Mall sent representatives from the Bridal Registry to explain the details of planning a real life wedding. They also distinguished between the different kinds of glass and dinner wares. Students prepared a special punch/ice cream drink for the reception, and some parents baked cakes. A local bakery also donated a small wedding cake to the cause.

All was fun, and nothing was taken too seriously. It was meant to give an idea of a possible life-to-be. It's just a glimpse at a small portion of tomorrow. And who really knows what tomorrow will do for us?

Crime Time

Vandalism — actions or attitudes of the vandals', malicious or ignorant destruction of public or private property, especially of that which is beautiful or artistic. But, those who are violated, like Gahr, don't consider its beauty to be worth all the trouble and money needed to repair the damage.

Most of the vandalism on our campus is normal; it consists of writing on lockers and bathroom walls. Furthermore, Assistant Principal, Gary Smuts, and campus supervisor, Diane Wierenga, both agreed that on a scale of one to ten, ten being the highest, vandalism at Gahr rates a two. But there have been two instances thus far this year and the City of Cerritos continues to have more and more problems each year.

Those violating here have been skateboarders and a boy whose ex-girlfriend attends school here. They have spray painted words to songs across our walls, doors, and bandstand. Mr. Smuts explained that these people have low self-esteem and are trying to get a point across. They feel that by these acts, they gain identity for themselves or their gang.

If caught, these people are turned over to the police after being dealt with by the school, usually by scrubbing the bathrooms or paying for the damage. The consequences are usually harsh enough by the time the violater is dealt with at school, with the cops, and then at home. Diane briefly summarizes it by saying, "You do the crime, you pay the time."

The vandalism doesn't have an effect on the students too much, but it does affect them and their parents indirectly. Besides looking bad, these damages cost the school and community a great amount of money each time something happens. The money to pay is taken out of the district budget, therefore, there is less money for the school and less money for the students.

The City of Cerritos does not have the repair equipment and they lease it from La Mirada every time there's a problem. Money is then needed to send the equipment and people to operate it. This estimates to cost $2,000 for each wall, each time it happens, and an estimate of $200,000 a year out of tax paying money. For what? All for the sake of letting out a message or gaining identity.

"Maybe we should just put up a wall length chalkboard for students to write on, but they would probably fight over the chalk." — Diane Wierenga.

Not too many teens feel this is an appropriate way to go about it. Here are some thoughts from some students at Gahr:

Mike Guevara, Junior — "If you can figure out what is trying to be said, it is pretty interesting to read, but it's a waste of time for the violator and the people who have to clean it up. The school already has problems to deal with without it."

Marquetta Graham, Junior — "It doesn't really bother me, but it shows how ignorant some people are, and it sure makes the school ugly."

Evette Wimer, Senior — "People who write and draw these things on the walls have something inside that they need to get out. This is, sadly, how they do it, just like some people abuse drugs, alcohol, and sex.

Consequently, vandalism is a growing problem and is a hard thing to try and control or stop. Diane laughingly resolves the problem by saying, "Maybe we should just put up a wall length chalkboard for the students to write on, but they would probably fight over the chalk."

Nutritious Dilemma

A well balanced meal is a very important tool used toward a good education. The brand new Gladiator Nutritional Center, or commonly called the lunch lines, attempts every day to satisfy this cliché. The lunch lines underwent reconstruction this year. With the closing of the snack lines, the lunch line became even more important to student nutrition. The new improvements were made to increase efficiency and to allow the students to enter and exit the purchasing area quickly. Although 'cutting' is a problem and the line extends clear out of the M.P.R. and almost into the first quad, the lunch lines do provide to students every day. A wide variety of snacks and sandwiches are offered and very nutritious but lacks taste, and the food always sells out. Ironically enough, one of most desired entrees is the chef's salad. Despite what is said about students eating nothing but junk food, this food doesn't seem any better. All in all though, the Gahr Nutritional Center is doing a great job at feeding young minds.

Time May Change Us

It seems as if I've known you much longer than just a few years.
We've shared more than a few tears.
We've shared happiness as well as pain.
We've shared anger for each other —
Without any blame.
I was weak while you were always strong.
But we learned from each other,
it didn't take us long.
And trusting you came easy;
You listened when no one else would.
You helped me to become strong,
Knowing on my own I never could.
I realize that time is passing,
And with time we'll find we're changing.
Our lives are becoming our own,
And we'll be doing our own arranging.
Perhaps in the years to come.
I won't be part of your arrangement.
Our friendship may just fade.
But that's O.K.
Because time can't change
The times we've laughed and cried together.

The fad is becoming more popular as people are using it as a release for emotion and thoughts. Modest is not the word to describe these people who tell the world their personal feelings through their license plate numbers either. They are cute and sarcastic as the messages range from telling their hobbies to what they collect, and from who they love to making sure you understand who's car it is, as Jennie Hashimoto did, selecting JNIEZ GT.

I held a survey among the Seniors at Gahr finding some personalized plates and asking others, "If you could have a personalized license plate, what would it say?" Here were the results:

Talk to me

The Senior way of life is seen by all. We see their character, know their required classes, know their personalities, and see them every day. However, there are feelings about uncommon situations which we don't get to see or hear. Here is your chance to learn more about that Senior who has a locker next to yours.

Q: If you were to die tonight without any communication with anyone, what would you most regret not telling anyone? Why haven't you told them yet?

"I never told my mom that I love her. I can't get myself to do it. She knows it though, because I make my bed and run to the store for her all the time."

Enrique Villegas

"I never told Kenny Johnson that I love him. I don't feel the time is right."

Ingrid Wilkins

Q: If you had the chance to meet and fall in love with someone in which you would have satisfying love, but you knew this person would die in six months. Would you still be willing to fall in love with them?

"Yea. I would want to make the last six months happy for them."

Sam Girmay

"Yes. I wouldn't want them to leave without friends. We all need friends."

Virgil Allen

"Here's a toast to our love," says Doug Dehlinger to Liz Siquetros.

That Special Someone

Raquel Ramirez Senior, and Mr. Baca talk about the up coming college night.

Teachers are the keys to many of our futures. Many of the values, ideas, and knowledge we receive comes from these influential people.

We don't always appreciate the teacher that gives us hours of homework and hundreds of tests that we often take for granted. Eventually, we realize how much of an impact they have on our lives, not only as our teachers, but as our friends.

Who is your favorite teacher and why?

*"Mr. Baca. He's my teacher but yet I know if I need help with life, I can turn to him as a friend. His advice puts me on top of the world with a new outlook on life. Because of him I'm looking forward to college and a successful career. Thank you, Mr. Baca!"*

Before you know it

Rick Benaker

Thrilled to hear they won the stand decorating contest at the first outside rally of the year.

Summer memories came to a close as a new school year began, leaving the beach, parties, and summer fun for books, studies, and hard work. Seeing old friends and meeting new people came with the territory of going back to school. Reality set in as the first bell rang for class. Underclassman scampered to find their classes while the upper classman moved with assurance only Seniors could possess.

As Seniors went to their classes they began to comprehend what being a Senior is all about. They started to understand the responsibilities of the title "Senior". They were to set only the highest standards for underclassman, be examples of school spirit and pride, and be the best young adults they could.

"When I was a Freshman, I'll never forget what this one Senior guy told me, 'before you know it you'll be a Senior kid . . . ' I can't believe it's already time."

A Time For Remembering . . . As the Class of '88 Looks Back

A short four years ago, we Seniors were starting what seemed to be a never ending journey toward graduation. As feeble Freshmen, we adjusted ourselves to high school life, and made our presence felt. As Sophomores we were no longer "in the cellar" and the term "Underclassmen" didn't really mean as much as it did before. As Juniors we were loving life because by this time most of us started to drive, even if this meant driving the old family hand-me-down. Also as Juniors, we received our first glimpse of Senior responsibility, the SAT.

Now we were growing up and taking on many, new responsibilities. Our journey toward graduation was right over the horizon. Every step we took on this journey we grew more and more into adults. Finally, we received the coveted title of the Senior Class of 1988!

At last, we were SENIORS! We didn't know what to expect at the beginning of the year. Many of us didn't even feel like Seniors. Somehow it didn't sink in, until about November, that we were Seniors, the rule of the school, the best of the rest. Maybe the reason that we didn't feel like Seniors was because some of us didn't want it to come to an end. The past four years have been so special to us and always will be. Memories of friends, places gone, and special moments. That first love, the Prom, and the dances. All special to us.

Now, we Seniors have many things to think about. Things such as college, joining the work force, or even the armed forces. Through all of this thinking let's never forget the past four years, for they have molded us into what we are today. Here are just some reactions from fellow seniors on their last four years in high school here at Gahr.

Congratulations! We made it!

"I'm going to miss many things. I know once I get out of high school I will want to go back. So I figure I'd better make the most of it because you only go through it once!"

— Kara Wasseenaar

"Gosh, time flys! I'm gonna miss all my buddies! No more acting crazy! Time to grow up!! Oh no!!!"

— April DeSanctis

"You meet so many people, then it seems like the next day they're all gone. It's fun all through high school except for the last few days. It's sad to see everyone; maybe for the last time ever."

Senior Advice

"Take pride in Gahr High School. It is a great place to be!" — Shawna Bouwman

"In a lot of ways, Gahr is one big happy 'family'. If you get involved, you can become part of the 'family'. It will be worth it if you do!" — Jennifer Anderson

"Do all your school work and try as hard as you can to get good grades. You should get involved in Gahr as much as possible and enjoy your high school years to the fullest." — Roxann Valdez

"Use your time to the fullest because it goes by really fast. Soon you will not have the time to do what you want to do. In other words, have the most fun you can while you can!" — Marjory Ackerman

"Start off on the right foot, and get good grades. Enjoy the rest of your years at Gahr to the fullest. — Tisha Roberts

"Have fun in your last years, keep your grades up and 'Just Say No" (to drugs etc., I am a Dickersen Ranger) — Rashon Hunter

"The first semester you should study so you can go to a good college." — Al Kim

"My advice goes out to all of you underclassmen who like taking unauthorized days off from school. Take it from an experienced person who knows, it will all come back and catch up with you. If you choose not to take heed of my warning, you will end up cleaning the campus or making up credits at Tracy night school, or both. Just go to school and stick to two day weekends!" — Myra Candelaria

The Senior Cabinet is definitely "Excellence in Motion".

Senior year, the most exciting 36 weeks in a high school student's life. It is a time full of on-going spirit and enthusiasm. It gives Seniors a sense of status, as they are examples for the rest of the school, and allows them to participate in once-in-a-lifetime activities. These activities will bring many treasured memories.

Recognition should be given to the '88 Cabinet, as they have made the class of '88 "Excellence in Motion." The Cabinet, consisting of 11 responsible members and advised by Mrs. Wildman, showed their pride for their class and school. Some activities which kept them on the ball were the Senior BBQ, Century Day, Ditch Day, Senior Madness, the Senior Luncheon, the Senior Movie Night, and Candlerose as "Reflections of the Past, Visions of the Future."

In addition to the Cabinet, advisors were a big help. Wendy Wilsey explains, "An advisor is like a Dad; they look over you, but are willing to let you do pretty much what you want, and not over power and run your Senior year.

'88 was fortunate to have good advisors; advisors that kept them on track, making sure they didn't waste time or money. Mrs. Wildman said, "I enjoy working with them because they're self-motivated and do things on their own. All I need to do is give advice."

'88's Senior year has proven to be a good one. The Senior Cabinet has been dependable, accomplishing their goals. Nisha Patel, Vice-President, said, "Not everyone on the Cabinet knew each other because we were all different, but we got together, and we really worked good as a family." It showed too, as they were great leaders, keeping the Seniors in good spirit and helping them leave their mark in Gahr's history.

"Thank you '88 for what you have contributed. We had such a turnout for advisory council and willingness to go along with things. The future will be great with the class of '88." — Wendy Wilsey, President.

Our Last Homecoming Dance
A Touch of Class

The Homecoming Dance has been a tradition in high school that Seniors have looked forward to with happy optimism. Since the high school days of our mentors and before them, to a Senior, the Homecoming Dance has been an important event.

Although the dance is such an old tradition, Seniors as well as underclassmen experienced a new twist instead of the common disc jockey. Time and technology have come a long way to produce the unique entertainment of VJ's (Video Disc Jockeys). Combining audio and visual effects, the VJ's "OOOOHED AND AAAAHED" the crowd.

The students and their guests were entertained with the latest dance hits, as well as many "oldies but goodies". The glamour, the glitter, and chicken carved out of a pineapple, will always be remembered by many as well as the Senior class.

Our last Homecoming is now just another of the many happy memories we have accumulated over the years. Let's hope in years to come, Seniors of their year, experience the excitement we did at our last Homecoming Dance, A Touch Of Class 1987.

Looking in a Crystal Ball

"Will I be happily married?" "Will I be rich and famous?" "I wonder how many kids I'll have???" Who knows what life has in store for us.

As we embark on "adulthood" after graduation, important choices will have to be made. "What college should I go to?" "What job should I apply for?" Decisions, decisions, decisions!

Ever wonder how it's all going to turn out? Wonder what it will be like at the 'Class of 1988' 25 year reunion? Here are some Senior's predictions.

"Extremely successful and terribly famous. You'll see my face a lot in the media. I only hope my eyes are open."

Paul Rijnders

"Happily married to Bill Lopez, hopefully. Living in a BIG house with two children and lots of money."

Ann Guray

"As the top lawyer of an international corporation, traveling back and forth between countries, winning multi-million dollar court cases."

Carolyn Domen

"In 25 years, I'll probably be the ruler of the secret world government that will rise out of the ashes of nuclear war."

Bryan Hirota

"Married to the guy of my dreams! Very rich and traveling all over the world."

Catherine Yoon

"I'll still be cool!!!"

Shawn Quarles

"I will own a successful business and a family with twin boys."

Monica Tunwar

"Married with my own fashion boutique. Four kids and a shelter for dogs and cats."

Kathryn Freeman

"I see myself as a U.S. attorney who will be successful in throwing drug dealers in jail."

Ryan Schapp

" In 25 years, I will be a world business tycoon, own the Hawaiian Islands, married and happy."

Tom Corpuz

"I'll be running my own business making a lot of money, so I can send my kids to a great college and travel all over the world."

Michael Oh

"Married with a couple of kids, a good job and a good wife."

Paul Rodriguez

"Financially well off with all the luxuries everyone wants. But, happy and still associated with the friends I have now."

Amie Mckinney

"A Doctor, with a great husband, a few children and a couple of cats."

High Costs of Senior Life

Do you ever wonder how much it costs to be a Senior? When it comes time to buy a yearbook, does Mom write the check? Does Dad help pay for Prom expenses? Or does it come out of your pocket? If it does, then you know how expensive it is to be a Senior. This is where part time jobs come in.

Here is an estimated cost an average Senior spends throughout the year. Underclassmen take note.

Senior Portraits	$150.00
Yearbook	26.00
ASB card	15.00
SAT test	12.00
Achievement tests	19.50
AP tests (one)	53.00
Homecoming Dance (including bid and expenses)	200.00
Winter Formal (including bid and expenses	300.00
Senior T-shirt	8.00
Grad Night	20.00
Senior Privilege Day	22.00
Prom (including bid and expenses)	10.00 / 400.00
Cap and Gown	14.00
Panorama picture	8.00
Roses (Candlerose)	5.00
Summer Supplement	3.00
Club dues	5.00
Miscellaneous	50.00
	Total $1320.00

I Need A Vacation

Paris. No, wait. A European vacation. I'd want to go to Europe with my girl friend and a couple of good friends. Then I would go over to Germany and buy a Beamer.."

John Barcas

There you are, probably soaking up some tropical rays. Your Desert Island Companion is right beside you of course, and all you have to worry about is what kind of tanning lotion to use. But all of a sudden, reality starts to settle in. Your Civics teacher is coldly staring at you, your "companion" is the nerd sitting to your right, and then you notice that you do need a tan. Desperately!

It's only natural for a Senior to want to escape from the pressures of daily upperclass life. Nobody wants to remember being turned down for the Prom or giving out too many of their goofy-looking Senior pictures.

Paul Rodriguez would like to escape to Hawaii, preferably by cruise. Less traditional, but also by cruise, Robyn Katow dreams of going to the Bahamas someday.

Some Seniors fantasize about more exotic places. Rod Quiambao wants to spend a year in the Orient and South America.

And even more extreme is the ideal vacation for Roma Wadhwani. She would prefer going to Hong Kong and never coming back here.

As Seniors, it is our time to dream and have the desire to get away. There are many challenges and adventures which lie ahead. Our special getaways will only help us through this last and final year.

Embarrassing or What??

"My most embarrassing moment in High School was when I . . . "

"went to Disneyland with my boyfriend. We were going up the escalator and I fell on my butt, in front of everyone." — Diana Duran.

"was at school and the snack bell just rang. I felt something hit the back of my head, I looked around to see no one. I felt around but I didn't feel anything. I asked the janitor if there was anything in my hair but he said 'no'. I walked into the class. Soon I found out that a bird had put one in my hair and it kind of blended in. I had to go into the bathroom to wash it out. Everyone knew! Boy, was I embarrassed!" — Tina Ambruso

"said a speech about Home Economics in a Civics class instead of a Civics speech. I was, in a hurry and I forgot to title the two papers. So I picked up any one and started to talk. I realized and stopped. Everyone was laughing."

Friends Till the End

You can't live without them, you'd die for them, and they seem to always be there for you. Whether it is a shoulder to cry on, or a shoulder to punch, best friends are what life is all about.

Making high school memories crazy and wild was easy to do with best friends. Bosom buddies at times were closer to each other than to their families, and they found it easier to discuss and relate to each other's personal experiences. They trusted each other, and whether male or female, best buddies were supportive during both good and bad times.

"What do you look for in a best friend?"

"What I look for in a best friend can be found in my best friend. She's nice and patient and one of the best people I know. I can treat her really badly but she always sticks by me and puts up with me no matter what. We share everything and we have no secrets between each other and we don't try to prove anything to each other. We're equals. We have good times together but we also help each other through bad times. She is the best friend anyone can have."

Pam Shiao

"I don't want a best friend who's stuck up. I want someone who's outgoing and easy to get along with."

Oscar Montalvo

"What I look for in a best friend is someone who is going to stand by me through good times and bad times, someone who I care for very deeply. That person is Diana Duran."

Who Would Have Ever Guessed

Who'd ever guessed you and I would become friends?
Not me.
I was just as shy as you —
Quiet in every way.
But being Freshmen and looking for a friend,
We began to talk.
And progressively we became acquainted.
We got a locker together
And brought a bag lunch everyday.
We shared the littlest jokes,
And laughed some years away.
I trusted you with everything.
And you relied on me.
I'm sure we're not the same as when we were Freshmen —
We've changed in so many ways.
But I like you just the same
Because you're my pal.
Who would of ever guessed?

The '89 Cabinet decorated their bug as reindeer. They took second place duri this Christmas lunch time activity.

SO FINE!

It could be said that this was one of the most important years for the Class of '89. Part of the reason was because they were Juniors, one step away from being Seniors. The other, was that they finally reached their goal, The Prom.

Every year they've had fund raisers to earn money to support The Prom. All the candy that was sold, dances that were danced, and the pizza that was eaten, helped the class of '89 to sponser the Prom.

This year's candy sale was their most successful one. The Cabinet opened the sale to the entire school. Anybody could sell candy with the possibility of winning various prizes ranging from a free pizza to a free hour of limousine service. The result was fantastic.

The Class of '89 always struts their stuff during Homecoming Week. Their most successful event was the bug decorating contest. The Cabinet turned the planning of the bug over to the Prom Committee. From there, the Prom Committee came up with a GAHRFIELD bug. Without a doubt, they won. The next major event was the stands decorating contest. Cabinet and Prom Committee members met at the stands on Friday, October 14, at 5:00 A.M. This annual competition was open to any Junior spirited enough to join them.

Through the planning of this enthusiastic group and the support of their advisors; Mr. Renaker and Mrs. Leeman, the Juniors came in second place at the end of Homecoming Week.

Behind the Wheel!

As you're cruisin' along in Cerritos, you suddenly spot a couple of Freshmen you know walking to the mall. A small chuckle echoes in the car as you imagine yourself in the same position a couple years ago.

Flashbacks of many bad memories come back suddenly: Images of waiting in front of the school until five for someone to pick you up; The constant calling up for rides is really becoming a pet peeve. A ride becomes one of the major problems during your Freshman and Sophomore years.

Many students must turn to alternative methods such as their own feet, the bus, or parents. Scrounging rides is becoming a constant nuisance. Junior year becomes a turning point. Suddenly you're not riding shotgun, or a back seat driver, but you're behind the wheel!

Bleacher Bums. Deanna Miller and Theresa Litzinger wait attentively for the rally to proceed.

One More To Go

Will graduation ever come? Juniors deserve to graduate after three long years of high school. But being a Junior means more than being "11th grader". Being a Junior means being able to drive, possibly owning and getting your first car, and maybe even gaining new respect and freedoms from your parents.

However, being a Junior also brings new responsibilities as well. It's a time to look and prepare for the future and decide what you're going to do with your life. If you think it's easy, it isn't!

Juniors are constantly being bombarded with the pressure of passing the dreaded SAT. Another concern is trying to decide what career you'll pursue. If you're really in deep water, your biggest concern might be if you're going to graduate!

Most of all, being a Junior means being old enough to make some of your own decisions and taking care of things the way you'd like them to be handled. Not only that, but Juniors have fun just being themselves and making the best out of their last years of high school.

Happy Birthday

Junior year — Sweet Sixteen — new car. Wait! New car? Yes, many students here at Gahr have received a new car for their sixteenth birthday. Those who plead for rides from others, or received a hand-me-down car, wonder why, when, from who, and how these people got so "lucky." I interviewed some Juniors who have received new cars to get the "scoop." Here are their stories:

On September 29, 1987, at 4:30 p.m., Angie DeLeon and her parents went to the car dealer to look at cars for the end-of-the-year clearance. Angie had been begging her parents for a new car and felt this would be a good time. Angie's dream came true, as her parents bought her a new 1988 red VW GTI. Angie said, "I was surprised because I thought I'd get stuck with a hand-me-down car. But I'm really thankful. Thank you Mom and Dad."

Kathy Muller was surprised in June of 1987 when her parents gave her a key to a car which was under a cover in her garage. The car was a 1987 red Hyundai. Her parents bought it for her as an early graduation present, but also because they were tired of driving her around. Kathy said, "I knew I would get a car because my brother got one when he was sixteen, but, I didn't know I would get it so soon. I didn't even have my license at the time. But, it was coming because my parents didn't like driving me around."

Cabinet Life

Gee! What's this article doing in here? 'Cabinet Life'?! is this supposed to teach us how to live in a cabinet?" Some person may be wondering. Well, that person is wrong! this is about the Sophomore Cabinet!

So what was the big deal of being on cabinet? They didn't seem to do much. We didn't hear from them much. What did they do?

The "big deal" was that they participated in planning activities for Sophomores. "I love helping the Class of '90," stated Jennifer Flores. They did plenty of things, some of which went unnoticed, but not the Winter Formal.

"We're an active, outgoing group," said Danny Fernandez.

There are also appointed helpers. They are chosen by the elected officials and advisors. There is no set number of helpers in a cabinet.

So for all of the people who thought this was going to be about living in a cabinet, this was a crash course on the Sophomore Cabinet.

The In-Between Stage

Has anyone ever felt like they were trapped between two slices of bread and a slice of bologna? Doesn't that feeling sort of remind someone of being a Sophomore?

Picture this, the bottom slice of bread is the Freshmen. They're excited because it's their first year. The slice of bologna is the Juniors. They're excited because they are going to be Seniors. Then the top slice of bread is the Seniors. They're happy because they're leaving this thing called high school.

What do Sophomores have to be excited about? Sophomores have plenty! They get to learn how to drive. They might get their driver's license before the school year is out. Then there is the class ring to think about. They get to choose what goes on part of the ring.

There was also plenty of private reasons for being excited about being a Sophomore. "I finally have the opportunity to be the one who picks on the Freshmen instead of being the one picked on," commented Marie Macaspac. But Thomas Lopez liked being a Sophomore because, "I know the place better and can get away with more." One thing that everyone should have been happy about is not being a Freshman anymore! Hallelujah for that!

Sweet sixteen that special birthday that everyone looks forward to. When you turn sixteen it seems like everyone expects more of you.

There's a lot of privileges that come with being sixteen. One privilege is being able to drive legally. Another might be that you can stay out later, get a job, or wear make-up.

Some boys and girls have a sweet sixteen or coming out party to let everyone know they're turned sixteen. For many, their 16th birthday is a very special event.

It's about that time, the time when those semester grades go in. The good and bad test papers, and those homework assignments that you accidently forgot to turn in are all accounted for.

It seems like we are already getting pressured about college. Worrying about what kind of classes to take or what you need to take, and whether or not you are graduating from high school.

Are your parents breathing down your neck? Well, it's only because they want you to make the very best of yourself.

So when the pressures on, remember your doing it for yourself, not for your parents or friends just yourself and your future to be someone successful depends on you.

New Generation

The wait after beginning campaigns and the final vote accounted for, seemed to be an eternity. But, after waiting what seemed to be hundreds of years, the results were in . . . The winners for Frosh Cabinet:

The New Generation of leaders are: Loara Cadavona, President; Shirley Kim, Treasurer; and Eydie Esgana, Secretary.

The distance between two seconds seemed infinite, the air hung like a rock and their first goal was to get an advisor. They got a temporary advisor, Mr. Ware, Activities Director. They also received help from two Seniors, Carolyn Domen and Martina Gregorio who also act as advisors.

Since then, they have planned, participated in and organized a Car Wash, the Christmas bug decorating Contest and those ever-so-popular Candy Grams. They hope to sponsor a dance and more fundraisers.

To those on Frosh Cabinet, have all the success necessary for an enjoyable year. Welcome to Gahr!

WANTED: "Not us . . . "

They're easy to spot. On the first day of school, they wander about in circles in search of their classes in a strange, new environment. With lost looks on their faces, these newcomers feel small, meaningless, even abandoned. They know that if they make a small mistake, such as venturing into "Senior Square" territory, they'll find themselves becoming acquainted with Mr. Trash Can.

It's true that Freshmen are just stereotyped as being short people with dumbfounded expressions on their face. But it's also a fact that the first day of school is probably the hardest day for incoming Freshmen. Being new and being a Freshman, they usually won't get any help from older students. They usually have massive problems finding their lockers, and then opening them is another task in itself. When lunch break comes, they have a hell of a time finding where lunch is until they realize that that mile long line of people leading into the MPR is leading to their destination.

Freshmen are never well-liked in high school in the beginning. "They have stupid sayings, like '91 is fun!' " says, Jon Sorenson, Sophomore. "They're small and there's too many of them."

The Freshmen feel they've a lot to complain about, too. "I hate the transition from being a liked eighth-grader to a new ninth-grader," expresses Chris Kissling. "It sucks. The older people are always picking on me."

Well, all they can hope for is that the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors get used to them soon. To the Freshmen, all that can be said is to look on the bright side. It's only the first day out of 180 .... Well, maybe that's not the bright side. Don't worry. You'll live.

In The Beginning

Mike Oh

From junior high to high school is a big change. Instead of being the oldest and the leaders, Freshmen become the youngest and the targets of the trash cans. They're suddenly thrust into a big school, where they can't find their classes or the lunch line.

If they ask the older students, they'll most likely get the wrong directions or end up in a trash can.

"High school was pretty scary at first, but you get used to it. It's not as bad as I though it would be," said Michelle Munoz.

Most Freshmen like the change. They feel more grown up and they can't believe they're finally in high school. They waited for this for a long time. Now they can't wait to become Seniors.

Real People

Throughout the year, the faculty put great efforts into helping students reach their goals. Many lunches, snacks, and hours before and after school were spent in their classes and offices. They were there to help students with classwork, problems, or just to talk.

Student-faculty friendships were great in number. The faculty got involved with the students as people, friends, and even as opponents, when they played against the Girl's Volleyball team.

Through their dedication and friendship, they showed that they, like students, are people too!

They Can Also Be A Friend

Sure their main job is to educate the youth of our society, but they can be a lot more than that. Have you ever thought of having a teacher as a friend? That's right, I said a friend!!

Virginia Lucando, Sophomore, thinks so. "Mrs. Meadows is so fun and nice," she said. "I can tell her just about anything that pops into my head!" "I think Mrs. Meadows is great to talk to, too," agrees Kelli Nagano, Sophomore.

Mrs. Meadows isn't the only person who is well-liked by students. "I like Ms. Silber,"" said Jimmy Nguyen, Junior. "She is a wonderful person to talk to."

"I think Mr. Busch is a friendly teacher," said Suzi Iwai, Sophomore. "He has a really good personality."

Danny Fernandez, Sophomore, thinks Mrs. Lau is "a teacher who really cares about her students. Mrs. Miller is a funny teacher, too."

"Mr. Edwards," said Jason Chai, Sophomore, "is an all-around nice person."

Norman Maranan, Senior, said, "I like Mr. Hughes because of his sense of humor and his style of teaching."

It's obvious we have many teachers who, in addition to teaching Math, History, or Science, have chosen to teach about friendship, too.

I'm So Embarrassed

No one wants to relive an embarrassing moment. That's why we're bringing back these memories teachers thought were long forgotten. By the way, thanks, teachers, for these truly great moments of laughter.

"While I was sitting at my desk, the lining from my shirt popped off and the back of my shirt was hanging. If I was standing, I would've been standing in my underwear." — Mrs. Lee

"One time I thought this bottle of super glue was a bottle of Visine eyedrops and so I accidentally superglued my eye shut." — Ms. Silber

"One day I sent My French class to the library. I thought I saw one of my students standing outside, out of the group, talking to some other students. I started yelling at him saying, 'Dereck, qu'est-ce que tu fais ici? Viens avec le group!" (what are you doing here! Go back to the group!) He gave me a strange look and said, 'I'm not Dereck' Then I realized I was talking to his twin brother!" — Ms. Miller

"One day while my students were taking a test, I thought I saw something move behind one of the boxes on top of my cabinet. I was curious so I took one of the student's desk and stood on it to see what was on top of the cabinet. I couldn't see, so I jumped up. The desk fell and I was hanging there like a fly." — Mrs. Meadows

Norman Maranan

"Now where did I put those tests?" wonders Mrs. Ware.

"Trying to be very still . . ." is Mr. Murray's favorite hobby and here he is doing what he does best.

A Time For Tears

We are saddened to see them leave, but leave they must. Two members of our faculty, Mrs. Pam Houseman and Mr. Norman Fujimoto have departed to bigger and better things outside of our campus.

Mr. Fujimoto, who's been with us for eleven years, was a dedicated member of our faculty. He was the Chairman of the Science Department and taught chemistry. Outside of the classroom, he was the water polo and swimming coach. His biggest contribution to Gahr is that he started the swimming and water polo teams. He left his job here for a new position as Assistant Principal at Cerritos High School.

As a goodbye remark Rick Salter, Senior said "He always did what was best for the team and he always wanted us to do what was best for the team."

Mrs. Pam Houseman, a twenty-two year member of the Gahr staff, accepted a job as a librarian at Montclaire High School. Mrs, Houseman accomplished many things at Gahr. She was the librarian and was advisor to the Media Guild. To help broaden students minds, she was on the planning committee for the Author Faire and was on the judging committee for the District Creative Writing Contest. Mrs. Pat Diemel, Senior Library Clerk said, "Mrs. Houseman and I worked together in the library for approximately sixteen years. We both felt Gahr's library was a good source of research in our school district and continually searched to broaden our collection of books and other materials. I wish Mrs. Houseman much happiness in her new position, close to her home."

We congratulate them on their new jobs and they will be greatly missed.

Secret Pasts

Is an axe murderer roaming our campus, or maybe an ex-cashier from McDonald's? Has your teacher suddenly looked liked they wanted to shoot you in the head because you bombed a test? Maybe it's because of their grueling past working experience. Learn quickly of the faculty's past jobs and the stupid mistakes they made. Their advice could help you in the future.

"I've had various jobs, First I washed dishes then, I worked on the Jungle Cruise at Disneyland. Then I switched to Knott's Berry Farm to work in the General Store, and finally I was a real estate agent."

Mr. Roger Hughes

"I have been a good checker at an independent market, a teacher's aid in Wilmington and in East L.A., and I worked in the surgical library at Children's Hospital."

Mrs. Kris Tanaka

"I worked in my father's clothing store, Five and Dime store, and finally in Harris and Frank."

Mrs. Debi Silber

"I gave swimming lessons at age 14, I was a math tutor at Cal State, I worked in the Sears Catalog Department, finally I was a bartender and I liked working there."

Mrs. Diana Lau

I Could Have Been A . . .

Do teachers ever daydream? Do they ever wonder what life would be like if they chose a different profession? Of course they do. Teaching a class full of screaming Freshmen would make anyone dream of another job. How about listening to the millions of excuses from students for being late or not doing homework? Does giving up the wonderful world of teaching sound like a good idea? The following teachers already have a new career in mind.

"Operate a wild life sanctuary . . . A real fantasy would be one which has veterinary/hospital facilities, plenty of funding for special needs, controlled breeding, etc . . . Possibly a cabinet position. Secretary of the Animals. I'd be in charge of care, preservation and protection of animals."

Mrs. Barbara Lewis

"I would probably be an Engineer (mechanical), because I enjoy working with machines, taking them apart and understanding them."

Miss Pamela Jones

"A millionaire. Because I'm tired of working so hard."

Mrs. Kris Tanaka

"A nude dancer, because at this point in my life, nothing matters."

Mrs. Diane Lau

"A recluse, hiding from all those experiences as a teacher."

Mrs. Cindy Homstad

"I'd like to study photography or become a Presidential speech writer or try out or lead guitar for U2."

Mr. Mike Escalante

"Marine Biologist, I love the sea, sailing, diving. I was always a water person, a diver since the 2nd grade. Also a hobby of photography, it would be very useful."

Mrs. Sharon Dragonetti.

Craig Crumpley

Mr. Wills showing that he's the Big Man on Campus.

Craig Crumpley

"But, but, isn't there any way out of this Algebra II/Trig class?" says Mrs. Lau

"Watch out!" Campus Security Hector Pena is on the prowl.

Teachers Are People Too

Students aren't the only ones craving weekends. Teachers don't always go home and grade papers or prepare lessons. Teachers like to play too! From running to racing cars, teachers enjoy life just like everyone else.

Teachers have hobbies and interests like normal people do. School is not the only thing on their minds. Seeing your math teacher skiing or your biology teacher doing aerobics, does seem impossible, but believe it or not, it could actually happen. The following is a peek of life outside of Gahr.

"All sports, especially cycling, skiing and baseball."
Mr. Dan Maderaa

"Philanthropic, bobby sox softball. and traveling."
Mrs. Carol Black

"Fishing, stain glass crafts, science fiction, and reading."
Mrs. Elsa Martinez

"Sports, fishing, and family."
Mr. Gary Smuts

"Shopping!"
Mrs. Addie Thiede

"Aerobics and painting."
Mrs. Barbara Sabet

"Ice skating, women's issues, and reading."
Ms. Janet Gomez

"Porcelain dolls (Ribbons from Pomona fair), and square dancing."
Mrs. Linda Caraveo Treese

"Racing and traveling."
Mrs. Joanne Densham

"Racquetball, swimming, traveling, and bicycling."
Mr. Jim Teague

"River rafting."
Mr. Carl Raff

"Theater, eating out, traveling, self growth workshops and nature."
Ms. Linda Ramsey

"Gardening, tennis, and sports watching."
Mrs. Cathy Bergeron

"Politics, war history, and computers."
Mr. Roger Hughes

"Needlepoint (I taught an advanced needlepoint class at a needlepoint shop)."
Mrs. Sharon Benoche

"Weight lifting, snow skiing, and painting graphics."
Mrs. Cheryl Beal

"Church work and bicycling."
Mr. Scott Huffman

"Being a grandmother, Sunday school teacher, choir, needlework, and camping."
Mrs. Marlene Mooney

"Hunting, fishing, I collect Louis La Mour books and hats!"
Mr. Steve Orr

"Antique and junk store shopping, handmade Christmas ornament collector."
Mrs. Gail Feltman

First Place — American Scholastic Press Association
First Place — Herff Jones Cover Concept Award
Third Place — Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Dear Tina,

This school year just flew by so fast. I really just wanted to let you know that you're just like my little sis! Remember how many times I got mad at you for doing silly stuff? Then you got upset at me for not trusting you? Well I'm glad it's all over. I'm glad that we became so close. I hope that you study hard and take good care of yourself, because you still have three more years to make your life!! Just do a good job.

Love, Sheila

Class of '88

You are truly great! It has been a pleasure teaching Junior and Senior English to you. I wish you all much success.

Mrs. Goodrich

Enrique,

I can't tell you enough how special you are. I love you Kiki. We've climbed mountains together the past two years. Thanks for sticking by me! I'll miss you when you are gone. But looking forward to you coming back, will get me through. Congrats to you and your sister, Sylvia.

I love you Tiger,
Theresa

Theresa,

I'm finally graduating. I wanted to thank you for making these past two years, the best ones I've ever had. We've been through a lot together, good and bad. I just wanted to wish us luck for the coming years ahead. I'll be thinking of you each day while I'm away.

I love you,
Enrique

Well Guys,

High school is over for me now; it has gone by faster than expected. As for you Orca, Fuji, Georgeito, Bruce, and even you Shanon, you have made these years all worth it. The times we shared, we'll live forever. And to Wendy my cuz, love ya.

"Crack"

Eric Fagen,

Success comes to people who never stop dreaming.

We love you,
Grandmama, Mom, Terry, Andy, and Brian

To My Fellow Graduating Seniors & Very Special Friends, (Jane, Jose, Jayson, Becky, Norman, Angie, Yvette, Miriam, Robinson, Sistine, Sabeina, Gayle, Sam, Wilma, Rich, Rag, Ricky, David, Raquel, Joey, Eileen, Nelyn, Jon, Karen, KSCG's, Jackie, Jenz, Jen, Emy, KK, & You too.)

Well guys, we've made it! The year is now just another memory. Just another one of many memories we've shared of the years! I want to say thanks to all of you, especially you Seniors who I'm graduating with and whom I've known for four years or more.

The years have been special, but this year more than ever. There have been just so many memories, the Debut, and Prom, to name a few. They are all as high school memories are supposed to be. They say that high school is the best of one's life, and I think it has been. Now we're moving on & going our own ways. I bid you success & happiness. See you at our 10 yr. reunion.

Tom Anthony Corpuz

Janelle — I love you dear, you've always been special to me. Thanks so much.
Miriam — Hello, well Babes you've got 2 more years, hang in there & remember I'm here for you.
Jose — What's up Besa! Hey take care Botoface and thanks for everything. Ramil Jr. — Hey Lil guy! Take care of mommy and daddy for me because they are both very special friends. Don't be so hard for mom to handle. Grow up and graduate like we did! We proud that you're the Class of 2004!!
Derek — Remember "Pepper Mackay" Bust it! Master Blaster! and keep going for the Bebots w/saggy soso's!

Congratulations Leah!
Four years have come and gone.
We shared your happiness on this special occasion.
You are intelligent.
You are talented.
You are Beautiful.
You have never given up.
Most important, we are Proud of who you are.

Love,
MaMa and Johnny

Dear Gary,

Here you are, a Senior already. You have grown into a fine young man and we are very proud of you. We hope all of your wishes and dreams come true and you are always happy. Always stay as sweet as you are.

We love you.
Mom, Dad, Traci, Grandma, and Sebastian

Charlotte Jean Carlisi

One year down and three more to go.
Go For It!

Love,
Grandma and Grandpa Villanueva

Sergey Zakharov —

Congratulations — You have made us proud in always trying your best. May all that you attempt to do or go through be as easy as you are to get along with. We Love you and wish the best for you. May God Bless you always.

Mom, Dad, Nicky, Adam, & Michael

ALEX!

You have made us so proud of you, from your first day of Kindergarten to your last day in High School.

Love,
Dad & Mom

Dearest Kathy,

Well, you finally made it. Congratulations! Thanks for all the help you've given me and all the good times we've had. Stay just the way you are and you'll go far in life.

I love ya,
Laurie

P.S. Smile Always!

To All Our Friends — Thanks for all the FUN TIMES!

Hey you wild and crazy guys!

You have been two of the greatest people in the world to me.

Roselle, don't forget Shoreline, Neil, Jim & Jerry, the beach, High Jinx, Claim Jumpers and our "Celebrations".

Carolyn, remember the classes & their frustrations, Pockets at the tree, "IT", and dinner at Eric's? Thanks you two for all the great times. I'll always remember your smiles and your nonstop laughter. Thanks for "being there". If you're ever feeling not good, sing a song and remember there's always someone out there who loves you.

Never Say Goodbye,
Martina

Dear Martini and Rose,

Thanks for 4 great years of friendship. I hope you never lose your enthusiasm and insanity. Let's always be the best of friends. Can you imagine us 10 years from now? Roselle, you'll have 10 kids; Martini, you'll be fresh out of medical school and I'll be ready to give you legal advice for any malpractice suits. Thanks for the great memories.

Love,
Carolyn

It's finally over!! Thanks Lynn Butt Carol and Teenie for the best times I've had at Gahr. You guys are my buddies and will be forever. I'll never forget those great practices in volleyball (Ha Ha). You're the best partner I've ever had Lynn Butt Carol.

Tennie, you're never boring and always full of life. Thanks for all the great memories. From our Freshman year in Biology to our Senior year. I love you both you guys, and good luck in college.

Love,
Roselle

Thank you for your continuous support through the years.

Mrs. Wildman, Mr. Vertido, Mr. Ellisalde

From your Senior Cabinet

Lisa Dee,

We've been through so much together. I can honestly say I've learned the most about myself from our friendship. The bad and good times have made us even closer. Thank you for all the memories. Here's to our friendship! I love you.

Michell

There is no need for an outpouring of words to explain oneself to a friend. Friends understand each others thoughts even before they are spoken.

Dearest Traci Teal,

Congratulations!

We are proud of all that you have accomplished but most of all we are proud of who you are. The Lord truly blessed us by giving us a daughter as loving and caring as you. May the Lord bless and keep you always in his care.

With Love Always,
Mom & Dad

To The Class of 1988
Congratulations!
Through Traci's friendship with many of you, we have also gotten to know and love you. We wish you all health, happiness, and success in all your future endeavors.

Fondly,

Congratulations Seniors

For most of us the work began our Freshman summer. Summer days were unbearable from playing and marching in the hot sun. This was just the beginning of our dedication. Soon after, there were football games, confetti, blue and gold anything, blowing bubbles in the stands, Tuba Boogie, Wipe Out, and our desperate attempts at marching halftime shows.

We knew how we played when Mr. Haar said, "Lick my pitts!" Artesia Parade, football games, concerts, basketball games and Christmas parties were just a few of the yearly activities that we were introduced to. Hawaii ended our first year with ugly shirts, volcanoes, beaches, and a serious vacation!

Tiny dressing rooms filled with thirty girls and hairspray started off our Sophomore year at the Pomona Fair. Carnival came for the last time and ended a favorite tradition. During those long hours at "the lot" we wondered if Mr. Haar ever took a shower. Farells our "hangout" was always crazy, especially when we had whipped cream fights.

Catalina was the place to travel. Mr. Haar gave us that lovely 3 ½ hour tour around the island. We went to Avalon, spent all our money, and sat on the beach. On our way home we froze while sitting on top of the boat. After Catalina came the end of our second year and we said farewell to Mr. Haar at the band banquet.

Our Junior year arrived sooner then expected and with it came a new director. Mr. Fischer introduced himself at the pool party and told us we had our work cut out for us. In honor of the occasion we welcomed him by T.P-ing the band room. The hours of practice paid off at Artesia and Norwalk, earned us an excellent at festival, and Knotts and Disneyland invited us to march "for the fun of it."

At the end of the year we traveled to Northern California. At Pier 49 in a little recording studio many of us found out singing wasn't part of our musical ability. At Great America some of us dared to try the Revolution. In Sacramento we played on the capitol steps for that huge government crowd. During the ride home we had an "experience" with silly string. As our third year ended the realization set in, we are Seniors!

Since we were "Excellence In Motion" we had the difficult task of teaching forty Freshmen how to march. We again marched at Disneyland, on the hottest day of the year! We drank about 100 gallons of the water they supplied for us. We actually marched our first field show and came in . . . well we tried anyway!

As the end of our fourth year comes to a close, we will remember these four years in band as part of our happiest memories in high school. They remind us of good times, close friends, and our love of music. Not many people realize how hard we worked, but oh, how much fun we had doing it!!!!!

For my love Taylor P. Wells:

Boy baby time sure has gone fast! I never thought we'd make it, but here we are! To tell you the truth, I couldn't have done it without you! Well, today I look back at all the fun times we spent together. I know the beginning for us didn't work very well, and I wish I could've done things a lot diffeeently. But I'm very thankful that the Lord guided us to what we are and what some day we'll be. I remember our first date, Heartbreak Ridge, then there were all of the lights in Hollywood. Top Gun scenes that we did for summer school, "this music," oh and how 'bout "T.M.T.B.O.L.M.F." Oh, the Prom — I forgot the tickets, but we danced "for Always". Where'd that bow tie go? Then we made it to the summer. Boogie Boarding (why'd you scare all the fish away and how?), the tidepools, Knott's, Disneyland, fishing, gee we never did catch anything, I think it was the bait! P-U!! Still there are many other memories that will never be forgotten in our hearts as well. Taylor, besides being my boyfriend, you are my "best" friend and I love you. Baby, I'm looking forward to our future together. Love your baby forever: Michelle R. Tellez. You've given me a special feeling that will never die.

To my baby Michelle,

There are many things I could say, but only one point I need to get across to you. Every since we met, that first time that we spoke to each other was the beginning of a relationship. In the beginning there were times when things were not going our way and I thought that even though we had just started, it was over, but somehow we pulled through all of the hard times and on to the good. It takes a lot of love and care to do what we did. Together we have learned to make a stand and fight for what we knew was right. Out of all that we have been through, there is one moment that I will never forget; that night when I pushed you away and you kept trying to hold me. With tears in your eyes, I remember you saying, "I love you." Nothing has ever touched my heart as much as when I saw your face and heard you crying for me. Even though I was mad, you turned me around and made me melt. I will never forget that Michelle. I guess what I'm trying to say is that "I love you."

Yours forever and always,
Taylor Wells

Missi,

We've been best friends for four years now and we're finally going to graduate. Remember Homecoming and New Year's! At the beach (FB) and the house. Our cities E, E, J, O, M, E, S. Getting caught ditching. Our times with cheer. You are so special to me and I'm so glad I get to graduate with you, as your Best Friend!

Love ya always,
Dina

Kristy,

We finally made it! Out of all the moving in the last four years you have finished your high school days at Gahr. Since the first day you came into my life I have been very proud of you. Even now as time passes the feeling grows stronger. I couldn't have asked for a better daughter. I wish you all the happiness you have given me and much much more. You have worked very hard and you deserve the BEST!

Love,
Your Mom and Best Friend

Here's To You '89!

WE are writing this to say our moment has arrived;
In every way, shape, and form, together we have strived.
GrowinG stronger with each year, we've learned to stand as one.
Holding on and striving forward, the best is yet to come.
ThroughouT our years at Gahr, we've wished for the best;
NiNe full months of love and fun are coming right our way;
In each of our steps and in our hearts, we'll never go astray.
Everyone sees that we're the finest, the class of '89!

March 28, 1985 I was blessed by God with one "special person". Someone who was always there for me when I was lonely or hurt. Who stopped the tears and brought out the laughter and happiness in me that I thought I had lost forever. Someone who understood all my feelings and listened to all my complaints and problems and of course the stupid remarks I made. Three years ago, I fell in love with this "special person" and he hasn't changed, but only has become better, and I love him even more than I did three years ago. Thank you Nelson for being that "special one." You've made my life as meaningful as ever and I know we'll have many more happy moments in the future as we had in the past. All the memories will be precious to me as you are. "Congratulations on Graduation. I'm proud of you. We both made it!"
I'll "always" love you Nelson

Carlotta

To Mike Hitz,

I wanted to take this opportunity to tell you how much I appreciate you and with how much pride I can say, "He is my friend." Not a week goes by that I don't wish we were still so close so that I could talk to you. You understood and helped me when no one seemed to care. This thank you comes from every corner of my heart. Take your dreams to the highest point of imagination and make them come true. God bless you.

Love forever,
De Ann Icenogle

I want to thank this school for making these four years of my life so special, and especially the teachers who gave my life a future and touched my heart.

*Jeannie Robinson,

Well it's time I graduated and go on to college. Senior and Junior years have been fun thanx to you. Sorry it didn't work out between us, I was hoping it would have. But the times that I spent with you were enough for me.

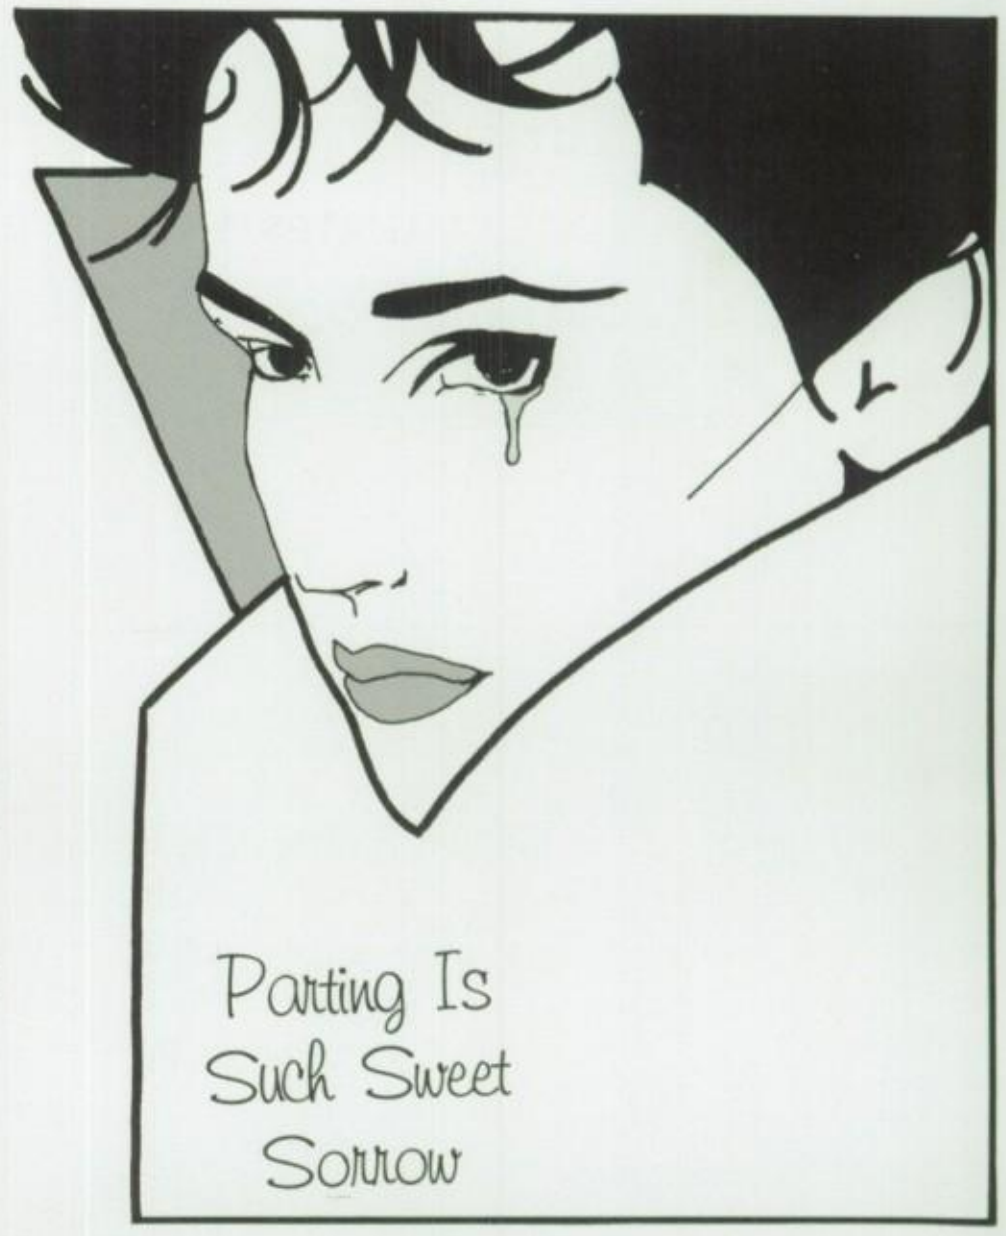
*Tina Ambruso,

Our senior year has ended and it's time to start college. Hope your future will be successful and you will prosper.

Tina and Jeannie,

I love you both, too bad our years have ended. We had so much fun together and that's what I'm going to miss. I'll miss you both but I'll always keep in touch . . . Hope you'll do the same.

Love,
Johnny



Forever Friends

We've grown up together for all these years
Sharing our laughter and also our tears.
Making the most out of all that we do
Sharing our problems and making it through.
Crossing the bridge, to which we've become adults.
Finally understanding and excepting each other's faults.
We will look back on our pictures and memories so true,
As we now move forward and explore what is new.
Our childhood years have now come to an end,
But Jeff, Michelle, and Roxann are forever lifelong friends.

Target congratulates the Senior Class of 1988. The leaders of tomorrow.

Shineah (Lynn), You have come a long way, but you have a ways to go. Keep your head up, your chin straight and press on — The best is yet to come! We are very proud of you and love you very much.

Mom, Dad and Regi

Ms. Monica Tunwar,

You are so special to us. Thank you for seeing this to the end and being so nice! God bless you in your new life.

Love forever,
Mom and Dad

To Chris Wheatly

Dear Chris,
Just want to let you know how proud,
I am of you today.
You've always been the perfect son,
I'm not afraid to say.
I've watched you grow up from day one,
And on through Motley Crue,
And even when you crashed your car,
You knew I still loved you.

Congratulations!
Love,
Mom

Kiersten,

You've made my last year and a half at Gahr one to be remembered with laughter and joy. You've helped me through some hard times this year and I want to thank you for everything. You're one of the craziest people I've ever met. I'll never forget the times we house sat or our trip to Pepperdine. You're a very special person and I'll never forget you!

Love,
Kate

Hi ya Bet Bet (Betty)
Hey sweetie! So here we are, you are graduating and I'm gonna be a junior. Thanx for making my Freshman and Sophomore years wonderful. Remember the good and bad times we've shared together. I'm glad we've been friends since we were little brats. We had good times even though we fought a lot.

B/F 4-ever,
Ann

Nisha,

Well spaz, we finally made it! Through all these years we've remained best friends. We've been through some bad times and a whole bunch of good times. Even though we're taking separate paths after all these years, I know that no matter where I go, you'll never be far away. I hope you never lose our friendship. You are a very special person. Thanks for everything.

Love,
Kate

To Rashon Hunter,

We went from friends - to enemies - to best friends - to strangers - and back to great friends. NO MATTER WHAT, Kelli, we'll always be friends. Nothing in the world will ever stop us!!! The love in our hearts will never die, it only stands still, 'til it's time to grow again.
Love you so much,
Monique

Dear Jamie,
We are so proud of all that you are as a son and student. You have given us more joy than we can say.
We Love You So Much,
Mom and Dad

Cindy,
The best of frenz we'll stay. I love you! The best of times we shared will always be in my heart.
Friends,
Darany

Ziggy, Baby Gee, Fred, Banana, Bones, Mom, Dad, and Joe Hockey,

Well guys, the year is almost over! It was long, but worth it. I'm glad you were all here with me, through good and bad!

Vicki, don't forget to invite me to the wedding! Good luck in all you do.

Nyla, I hope you find all your dreams and all you dream of. Visit on vacations.

To Anna and Ilene — Enjoy your last year at Gahr. You may lose a few friends but you'll gain a lifetime of memories. Mark, Spanish was a blast! Good luck with Anna and may you succeed in all you do. Manuel, I hope it all works out with you and Ilene. Enjoy life (and talk more)! For my buddy Maxine — Remember all the good times when we first started out! I'm sorry I couldn't be the best friend you wanted. Good luck with the Army! For my brother Chris — Stick with it! I know you can achieve anything you want bad enough! I'll see you at the Forum! I love you all and my year wouldn't have been the same without you! Your Friend Always,

Cindy-Snoozer-Baby Pop

Dear Baby "G", Snoozer, and Ziggy,

Our years together have been the happiest ones of my life and your smiles and laughter have made high school a blessing. I know in my heart that our friendship is everlasting and that we will continue to support each other in the years to come. I love you for the memories you gave me and I thank you for being there whenever I needed you, you are more important than everything else.

Love and Friends Forever,
Fred

To Algebra,

You are a wonderful sister, friend, and young lady. You have always been bright and intelligent with a sense of responsibility in all aspects of your life. We are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments!

We know that you can tackle just about anything — you've proven it time and time again. We Love You Jerrie Bears! With Love, Dad, Mom, Judy, Jane, Jojo, Jill, and of course, James, Jinx, and Jake Awake

Good friends are hard to choose;
A real good friendship never dies,
Good friends you never lose.
Friends are not like autumn leaves,
You find everywhere;
But friends are like diamonds,
Very precious and very rare.

Kelli — You've been a real G-R-E-A-T friend. Thanks for all the support, love, and confidence. I'll always be here for you . . . 'til the end. May God love and cherish "us" 4-ever.
Monique — Everything I would say to you, you would already know, even though I don't say it all the time. But, at times like this, it's important and special to reassure you that in me, you definitely have a life-time friend. No other "best friends" could top all of the times that we've gone through without your love and support. If time, goals, and dreams separate us, you'll still be with me — in my heart. I wish you the best — God Bless!

Dear Ed,

What a bud! Thanks for all the good times. I'll never forget them. This year was real special, we grew closer to each other and Christ at the same time. Remember, we are not our own and let's give the full set of keys to Him.

Your Bud Forever,
Jan

Calondra,

We wish you the best of luck in your Senior year.

Love,
Munch and Pops

To the best group of friends I ever had,

I wish you the best of luck in all your endeavors. May all your trials and tribulations end in success and happiness. I hope you'll come to our 10 year reunion. I know I'll be there. Keep in touch.

McHatton

Cindy,

Congratulations on your achievements thus far. We are very proud of you. Set your goals high for you are tenacious and we believe you will achieve anything you desire. Don't forget to have fun and enjoy life along the way. We love you Cindy.

Mom and Dad

Debbie,

I am very proud of you for putting forth such great effort to become a responsible and respectable daughter and student. Remember the struggle is just beginning and the next life and educational phase will require enormous stamina. I know you can do it and success awaits you. So keep on fighting until the battle is won!

Only you can accomplish the goals that you have set and before you know it you will establish your Dream Business.

God Bless You and I Love You.

Congratulations,
Mom
(Emma Thomas)

Debbie,

We feel very fortunate to have you as a sister. We know it is not always easy dealing with us, but you do, regardless. Continue to have fun and congratulations on becoming a Senior.

Jay B. Weinstein

I'll never forget you and the special times we've shared. Remember the promise we made in Santa Barbara? Spending X-mas together? Valentine's Day? And how wonder-ful New Year's Eve was? Darcy loves Stan. Thank you for realizing that we belong together. I love you. Jay and Jennie, October 10, 1987

Paul Rodriguez

You've really changed my life by always being there for me. I know we will stay in touch forever, just as I'm sure you are my best friend.

Ann Guray

I'll always remember you and all the fun we had. I still have the lady bug. (Don't forget DB)

and David Ray Rodriguez

I'm happy we became closer this year. Black mail music, "Fatal Attraction", Johnny Rockets, record stores, Pictionary, Devil/Angel, plain happy stars with Mayo and Prom '87. I love all of you!!!

Love,
Jennie

Dear Kel — I remember when we were little elementary kids playing four square. We used to give each other 4 page letters through the mail over the summer, remember? I recall the first day of 7th grade, we were so terrified. We didn't even know where the lunch line was. 8th grade was our year to relax, then the biggest fright — Freshman year. Now that's passed & so has 10th grade. Now that we can drive, there's more than Fridays at the mall. I hope the rest of our school years are even better than the past, now that you can drive around! — Forever friend, Marie

Dear Merrian — Even though you are 21, you sure know how to put up with the younger generation. Thanks for taking us duck-hunting, out for donuts and hot coco at 11:30 pm, putting up with our singing, and driving us around for hours and going nowhere. Thanks especially for taking care and putting up with us. Our friendship will undoubtedly keep growing and growing.

Take care of you and your babe, Steve!! — Love, Kelli and Marie

Dear Marie — Geez, we've been friends ever since 6th grade and we've been through so much together. Entering Jr. and Sr. high school, shopping, and talking on the phone about nothing but nonsense. Two more years until we go our, separate ways, but somehow we'll always be together. There is definitely so much to go through until we depart. Take care and friends, Kelli — Friends Sept. '83 to ?

To David Ray, Paul Francis, Jennie Lee, and Jay B.,

You all are the best friends I could ever have! I will remember all the fun and laughs we had during these past four years. I love you all very much and will always keep you close to my heart!

Your friend always,
Ann

Dear Jody,

Well you survived four years at Gahr. I bet you are glad that you finally graduated. We have been through so much together. Good times and bad, but mostly good. You are always there when I need you and always give me good advice. I'm glad we both made it to the cheer squad and I want to thank you for the laughs you gave me when we tried out. I'll never forget that. You were always there when I needed a shoulder to cry on and a good laugh. I wish you good luck with your future and I hope you succeed in what ever you want to do. Take care of yourself.

Best friends always,
Jodi

Kate,

Well girl, we finally made it, we're gonna graduate! Can you believe it? We've been best friends since second grade. In all these years we've gone through some pretty crazy times. It's gonna seem weird going our separate ways next year. No more dance and modeling classes, or tennis lessons to go to together, we'll be doing things ourselves. Thanks for always being there and putting up with me. Thanks for listening to me sing, shopping with me, and not hitting me when I cracked my gum all the time. I've learned so much from you, more than just how to ride a motorcycle and how to drive a stick shift. I'll always treasure our friendship. I'm gonna really miss you next year.

Your best friend forever,
Nisha

P.S. You can still by my maid of honor, though!

Dear Tina,
Sept. 26 — The day my best friend Tina passed away. Since that day, I have not truly been happy. Tina you were the one that made me laugh when all I wanted to do was cry, the one that took care of me, and the one that listened to my sometimes boring stories with the patience which only a person like you could ever have.

I know I will never, ever find a true friend such as you. We've stuck through it all, both good and bad, and your death is my final "challenge", and I will eventually get over it — not forget — but get over it. I will just carry "our" special moments and look forward to the day when I will meet you again where we'll live in a violence free world, a place made for you. I love you!!! Tina — no matter where I am, or what I'm doing, I will never forget you — my best friend.

With all my love,
"Juls"

P.S. Nikki and Neyln: please always take care!

Dear "T",
We had some good times & some bad times. But the good always over-ruled the bad. We'd better stay frenz 4-ever. Stay in touch while you're in S.D.!! Love you lots.

Friends 4-ever,
'J'

P.S. We were crazy!!!!!

To all who know me or all that just know of me,

One once said, "There are many views of life, and life is the beginning." A bad view of life in which the good follow, if you waste it, it will waste you. A good view of life in which the bad follow, if you cherish it, it will cherish you. The way you think is another's thoughts. Clear your mind my peers, then there is love, power is the end and friends appear. A friend is only one that you love and depend on. Then there is money. My life and friends I love and cherish. My life, friends, and experiences I love.

Good-bye,
Randy Star

Divina Andico,

Burning tears where we found, how much we care for each other. Unwanted time came to us unexpectedly. But both of us held as tight as we could while the clock clicked. Together until . . .

Love you Always & Forever,
Noel Ferrer

To Doug, Shaw, Pockets, Antonio, Tom, Manuel, and the other special friends of mine,

Thanks for making this year treasurable. I'm really going to miss you guys next year. Good luck in everything you do, I know you'll succeed.

Love Always,
Natalie

Star,

Congradulations! You have made it with hard work and determination. We wish you strength, courage and motivation for the future, and lots of fun, too! You can stand on your own and not be alone. We will always be there.

Love,
Mom and Pete xoxoxo

Dear Sheri,

Looks like we made it! It's been so much fun! Thanks for being a great twin sister. I love you very much. Congratulations to ya. Hope your college years will be great. Good luck forever in the future. Looking forward to having lots more fun with our apartment. Luv ya Sher.

Love forever,
Keri

Dear Kim,

Just want to wish ya the best of luck on your last two years of high school. Sheri and I won't be here to keep an eye on you, so be good! J/K! You'll have to visit us some times okay? I love you Kim.

Love always,
Keri

Dear Stefüsh,

You are the greatest best friend in the world. We've been through good and bad times and look we are still the best of friends. Thankx for lending an ear when I've needed one. I'll always be here for you too.

Luv & Friendz,
Ker Bear

Congradulations Torey!

You've taken another big step in life and we're very proud of you as always. You are the best.

Love,
Dad, Mom, Carie, and Grandma

To Jennie Hashimoto,

I want to thank you for always being there for me. You are the best friend I will ever have. Good luck in the future, and thanks.

Love,
Paul Rodriguez

Keri,

You have been such a great inspiration in my life. Not only with my problems, but with my personal life with God. You have shown me the difference between right and wrong which has kept me from stumbling. Even though I clown around in class, if I could remember you best, it would be your favorite Bible verse.

Colossians 1:10 That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God.

Love ya,
Lisa

All our love and wishes go out to you, Brian McDonald, and in the years to come. We love you.

Bobbie & Susie McDonald

To my son Brian,

Congratulations honey. We're very proud of you and all that you've accomplished. It hasn't always been easy, but thank you for being the kind, understanding, and loving person that you are. We've watched you grow and mature in so many great ways and now you're ready to begin making your dreams come true. May love and success bring you and Kim happiness forever as God walks with you both in your lives. "Hi Kim". We all love you, both.

Love,
Mom and Amanda

Cindy,

We've managed to remain best friends for 6 years and I hope that our friendship lasts a lifetime. You're the Best and don't ever forget it. I love ya Cin.

BFF, FL, LYL, Stephanie

Wiggy — U R a great friend. Thanx 4 sticking with me. Sus — "My dare-devil friend." Thanx 4 putting up with me (Grab bag) & I love ya. Katerbug — Well, the guys were good 4 something! It's really great that we've become so close in such a short time. Soon we will have our own memories from Hawaii and we won't have 2 listen 2 theirs! Good luck all of you!

Love-n-Frenz,
Kiersten

P.S. Don't Forget-Boo-Boo
I Love You!!!

Hey cuz,

We sure have had rad times, huh? Remember the "Brady Bunch" during the summer? Or the "day care" with Mrs. G? Don't ever forget those times.

Wendy

Wendy,

I want to thank you for our many years of friendship. True, we've had a couple of bad moments, but our fun moments out do them by the thousands. Good luck after graduation and the choices you make in life. May our friendship grow stronger as the years go by! Don't forget all of our wild-n-crazy times.

Love & Friends Forever,
Chelle

Chelle,

Hey bud! I just wanted to say thanks for being a great friend these past 7 years!

Best Friends,
Wenifred

Jamie, Becky, Yvonne,

To my 3 favorite friends. Never forget me or the "Dead Monsketeers," Skate or Dio park, food fights at Cracker Barrel, "You ate it!", White Pintos, the Cure at "Diz" (may I watch your wheelchair?) and "Top Secret." I love you more than you'll ever know goo-bye & goo-luck. I'll be thinking of you at the Oscars!

Love,
Kathy Knox

De, Matt, Sherri, and Marc,

I will miss you all. Thank you for everything you've ever done for me, including all the support & happiness you've given me during my last year in school. Goo-luck with graduating and I hope to see you in the future. Never forget me, because I know I'll never forget you.

Love,
Kathy Knox

Daveray, Anneguray, & Jay,

How long has it been, 7 years? I just thought I'd tell you how much I love you, and even though we aren't as close as we were in the past, I still hold our memories close — as I always will. Good luck!

Love,
Kathy Knox

James Lopez!

Thank you so much for all the "special" drawings you gave to me. I will always keep "keeler the cat" close to my heart along with many other things. Words could not express how special and honored you made me feel.

With Love,
Raquel Ramirez

Diane!

Forever and always we will have our special closeness. Don't you ever forget that! And as for Brenz . . . Gosh I wanted you at Gahr so bad. Good luck to both of us with the love of our lives. John and Tavis. Isn't it crazee!!?

Love,
Raquel

Brian McDonald,

Well congradulations! You made it! I want you to know that I hope I have been an inspiration to you live you've been to me! Even though I've been married these last four years & haven't spent as much time with you, you've always been close to my heart. But now there is two new people that share your joy. Kendi talks of you always and believes that you are a great brother. Lukas wants you to visit so you can help his dad change his diapers. Ha! Ha! Well, life is just beginning for you now. You will always look back on the memories, both good and bad. But now there is anticipation for the future. Don't let anything or anyone hold you back from your dreams. We support any decision you make. We're proud of you.

"Bubba God bless you"
From,
Dan, Kendi, & Lukas

My Love,

Thank you for all the good times and of course the bad times too. We've practically been through it all together, but look out! There's more to come. I look forward to every day with you. Remember, I live for your love!

With so much growing love,
RQ

Dear Mize,

Thanks for the years of concern and understanding. Thanks for being more than a coach but a friend. Good luck next year!

Love & God Bless,
Diego, Manny, Paco, Eddy, Miguel, David, Julio, Javiar, David and Harold

Sally,

You poor girl! You've had to put up with having me as a teacher for 5 of the last 6 years. You deserve an endurance award! I've seen a tremendous amount of progress as you have developed into a very special young lady. Don't ever give up on yourself. You can do great things with your life and I know you will. Good luck with the rest of your life.

Mr. Renaker

What yearbook staff is all about!

Leaving Our Different Dimension

As the year comes to an end, we look back on all the great memories. Goals achieved, sports won, new heights of academic excellence achieved.

Teachers have retired, leaving impacts that will be felt in years to come. New teachers have entered our dimension, bringing fresh ideas with them. All this and more, are what made our dimension different.

We will continue through life, through different dimensions. We will go on from graduation to the real world. Working, going to college, getting married and having a family. But as we look back in years to come, we will always remember what happened in that Different Dimension, 1987-88.

Jennifer Polak

Seniors, Monica Tunwar and Roma Wadhwani, pack up and get ready to carry off part of the remains of their picnic, Yolanda Quintero.

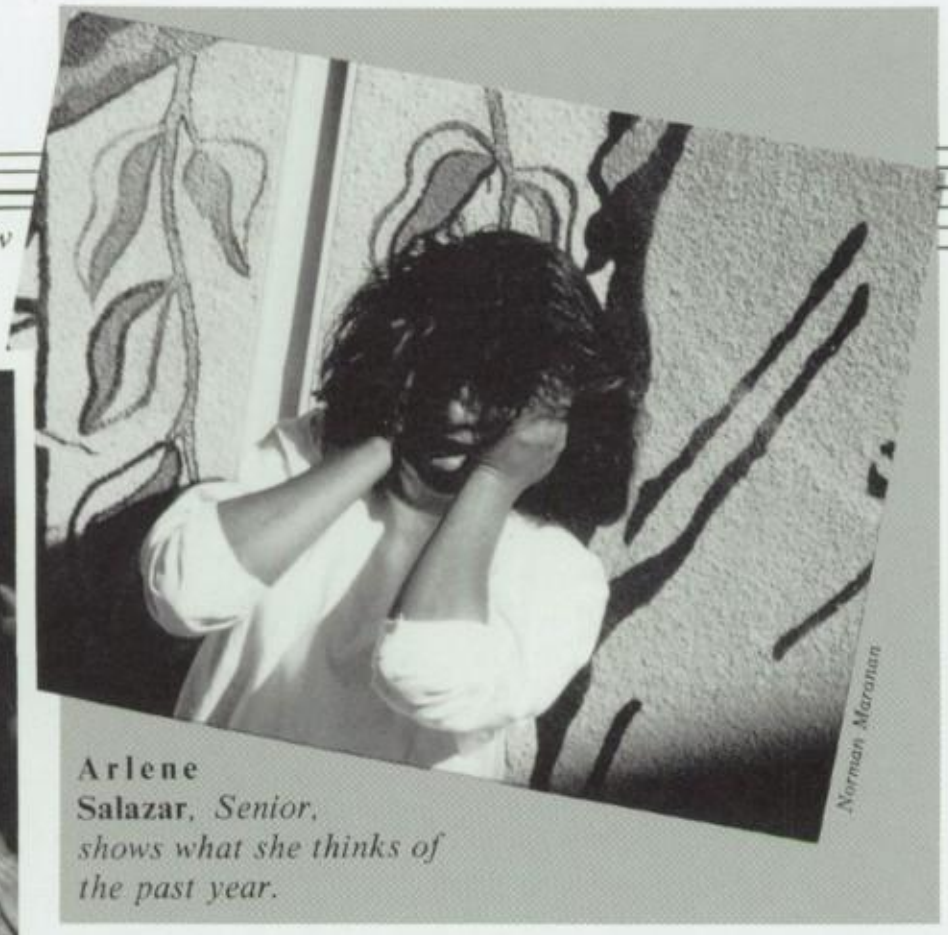
Seniors, Class of '88, do all they can to show this dimension will be remembered always.

Sean Nam



Norman Maranan

Arlene Salazar, Senior, shows what she thinks of the past year.

Norman Maranan

Senior, Sergio Menezes, expresses his thought on leaving this dimension.

Dear CHRIS.
Well, this has been a fun year in Mayne's class. wasn't it? Well, you are a really nice guy although you did~~n't~~ bug me sometimes. But that's okey. Don't get hurt on your board this summer. Hope we have classes together next year. Your friend
Take Care mona

CHRIS,
I guess I wont see you next year because I won't be here, but try to have fun anyway. Call me over summer and maybe we could party.
yours truly
Mike Glover

Is That mona from 6th per.
Yeah!

P.S. Keep My signature coo you could use it as my Autograph when I'm Rich and famous.

Hey Christian Stussy -
Well it was great conversing with you in Raffi's class. Have a cool summer. Grow some dreads. Create some outrageous art, and keep in touch. 860-7642

Hey Dude ▽ Now I'm finally graduating ▽ I'm gonna miss you Dexter ;-) What happened we don't see each other that much anymore -- you don't go to Andrew's that often ... what's up? Don't work too hard it always seems like you're at work. I'll never get you or the twins over! Sharon U's very special!

I'll always remember when you were down in Cancun ... we went to the sick ... Hide Mel" Hide Mel" Another cavern cavern not to mention that that was kinda funny ▽ Remember our school project ▽ Gotta go bring dad to the airport -- Glad you're having fun -- Stay in touch -- Love ya Tricia

Hey Sexy Baby! Um Reeeeey glad we had the chance to meet. If it wasn't for Albertsons I don't know where we would be? Maybe where we started off not knowing one another. But you are a real sweet-heart! You make me have a great time at work and school when I see you there. For the little time we have known each other we have gotten pretty close. I will always cherish those 3 rings and my tiny Bracelet. Little things like that are special. Thanks for making me laugh. I have such a great time with you. I'm going to miss you a bunch. But not that much because I'll see you at work. We will always be "The true" BLUE" Albertsons Crew!" Thanks so much for walking me from 3rd to the Quad. I'm special. I wish you alot of luck and I hope all your dreams come true. I hope your Senior year is the BEST. Just quit mine. Don't MESS up. Good luck with Cary. I know I spelled her name wrong But Hey nobody's perfect. huh? Well I still think I'm better than many so if you marry anyone first it should be me. After all the little toy machines, play it all with the things you get. But I guess I can still have an affair with you. We just won't tell our mommies. Okay. Well we need to keep in touch over the summer. You do get together and hit the Beach go to Knotts. Or something take care Sweet-E and remember if you ever have problems I'm there to listen. BYE! BYE!

Love your friend,
Nadia Mready

Chris -

If there would be one thing in the entire world I would want you to know, if you and I were never going to see each other again, it would be that I do care about you, very much! Words cannot express just how much you do mean to me! You always listen when there is something bothering me, and even when I just feel like talking (about nothing specific) you always listen. And I thank you for that. I also need to say thank you for all of the good times we've shared so far! I hope & wish that they can go on forever! If it works out Magic Mountain should be a lot of fun!! Please be understanding though, this summer I already have a lot planned like, I have to go to 3 setters camps for Volleyball, but other than that the summers all ours!! Let's make the most of it!

P.S. at Davis I'll
always!!

Love,
Ker

Chris,

It's been great having Algebra w/you. I'm glad we got to know each other. I know I'll see'ya over the summer at McD's, or Albertson's.

Hey Hailey,

I just wanted to say that I had so much fun with you & Shi & Blake & Jody & Kaylee. You are such amazing people. We will have a reunion every year. You guys mean so much to me. You guys are my family. I love you guys so much. I'm so glad we got to meet each other. I'm so glad we became friends. I'm so glad we have each other's backs. I'm so glad we have each other's hearts. I'm so glad we have each other's souls. I'm so glad we have each other's minds. I'm so glad we have each other's bodies. I'm so glad we have each other's everything. I'm so glad we have each other's forever. I'm so glad we have each other's always. I'm so glad we have each other's love. I'm so glad we have each other's friendship. I'm so glad we have each other's memories. I'm so glad we have each other's laughter. I'm so glad we have each other's tears. I'm so glad we have each other's pain. I'm so glad we have each other's joy. I'm so glad we have each other's sorrow. I'm so glad we have each other's happiness. I'm so glad we have each other's sadness. I'm so glad we have each other's anger. I'm so glad we have each other's fear. I'm so glad we have each other's courage. I'm so glad we have each other's strength. I'm so glad we have each other's weakness. I'm so glad we have each other's vulnerability. I'm so glad we have each other's openness. I'm so glad we have each other's honesty. I'm so glad we have each other's trust. I'm so glad we have each other's faith. I'm so glad we have each other's hope. I'm so glad we have each other's love. I'm so glad we have each other's friendship. I'm so glad we have each other's memories. I'm so glad we have each other's laughter. I'm so glad we have each other's tears. I'm so glad we have each other's pain. I'm so glad we have each other's joy. I'm so glad we have each other's sorrow. I'm so glad we have each other's happiness. I'm so glad we have each other's sadness. I'm so glad we have each other's anger. I'm so glad we have each other's fear. I'm so glad we have each other's courage. I'm so glad we have each other's strength. I'm so glad we have each other's weakness. I'm so glad we have each other's vulnerability. I'm so glad we have each other's openness. I'm so glad we have each other's honesty. I'm so glad we have each other's trust. I'm so glad we have each other's faith. I'm so glad we have each other's hope.

Don't forget me

P.S. We should all get together & go to the beach or MAKE PLANS

P.S.S. Jody took up a whole page so I decided I can't leave a space anywhere or it wouldn't be special. We will have many good times hopefully in the future. Not hopefully for sure. I promise that. Before I go to college also going to party. For the second time. Love & Friendships

P.S.S.S. Hailey, I got to meet your family & friends & one of your pets. You guys mean so much to me. You guys are my family. I love you guys so much. I'm so glad we got to meet each other. I'm so glad we became friends. I'm so glad we have each other's backs. I'm so glad we have each other's hearts. I'm so glad we have each other's souls. I'm so glad we have each other's minds. I'm so glad we have each other's bodies. I'm so glad we have each other's everything. I'm so glad we have each other's forever. I'm so glad we have each other's always. I'm so glad we have each other's love. I'm so glad we have each other's friendship. I'm so glad we have each other's memories. I'm so glad we have each other's laughter. I'm so glad we have each other's tears. I'm so glad we have each other's pain. I'm so glad we have each other's joy. I'm so glad we have each other's sorrow. I'm so glad we have each other's happiness. I'm so glad we have each other's sadness. I'm so glad we have each other's anger. I'm so glad we have each other's fear. I'm so glad we have each other's courage. I'm so glad we have each other's strength. I'm so glad we have each other's weakness. I'm so glad we have each other's vulnerability. I'm so glad we have each other's openness. I'm so glad we have each other's honesty. I'm so glad we have each other's trust. I'm so glad we have each other's faith. I'm so glad we have each other's hope.

K.I.T. → that means call it the way it is. All positive. or else it won't work. Whatever is easiest for you at the time.
